TEACHER IS KILLED BY SPEEDER

Saugus Girl Victim of Fatal Accident; Boy Injured by "Brutalest Autoist"

A speed maniac, driving a closed automobile, knocked down and killed Miss Katherine McKinnon, a Saugus school teacher, on Huntington avenue, at the intersection of St. Albans road, Roxbury, and sped away in the darkness.

A brutal motorist knocked down eleven-year old Eddie DeCosta of No. 202 Main street, Charlestown, on Middlesex avenue, Somerville, picked up the boy, whose skull was fractured, drove to Mystic avenue, a mile away and abandoned him to his fate.

The boy is dying.

The police are seeking for persons who may have noted the registration numbers on either of the cars.

POLICE TRAILING CAR.

Today John Bennett of Walpole came forward and furnished police with information which may result in the arrest of the driver who caused Miss McKinnon's death. He said he saw the accident and that the car responsible was a Ford coupe.

He said it was traveling at dizzy speed and, after lifting the unfortunate woman far into the air, sped between two street cars and disappeared.

Detectives immediately began a hunt of Roxbury and Brookline garages. They expect to locate a dented coupe which will prove to be the death car and lead to the driver's arrest.

Miss McKinnon was catapulted through the air for thirty feet and fell at the feet of Dr. and Mrs.

DOCTOR, IN BACK BAY RAID, WEDS

Marriage Occurs Before Divorce Obtained by Wife Becomes Absolute

Dr. Frank William Marvin, recently divorced by Mrs. Florence Ledden Marvin, who surprised him with Miss Rosalind Byrnes, a Providence minister's daughter, in a Back Bay apartment, has married Miss Byrnes at Providence, though his divorce has not become absolute in this State.

This fact became known today when announcements of the marriage were received in Boston.

The announcements were sent out by the Rev. Thomas Byrnes, the new bride's father, and stated that the ceremony took place November 22.

Enclosed was an "at home" card which showed the couple will live at No. 155 Everett avenue, Providence.

BRIDE WAS NURSE.

Dr. Marvin was an orthopedic specialist, living at No. 54 Larchwood Drive, Cambridge, with an office at No. 520 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, at the time of his divorce from the first Mrs. Marvin.

Miss Byrnes was a nurse, whom he frequently employed in his practice. Mrs. Florence Ledden Marvin found a key in her husband's pocket and a tag on which was written an Audubon road address.

She entered the suite, using the key and found letters from her husband to Miss Byrnes. Later, with her brother, she entered the suite in the night time, finding her husband and Miss Byrnes.

HIS MOTHER SUED.

Mrs. Lewa G. H. Marvin, mother of Dr. Marvin, who lives at No. 866 Charles River road, Cambridge and is wealthy, is the defendant in a $100,000 alienation suit, brought by

ELOPERS SPEED AT 60 MILES; KILL YOUTH

Hartford, Ct., Nov. 27.—George Kenneth Whiteside, whom New Haven physicians were preparing to commit for mental derangement, and Miss Mildred E. Wheaton, left New Haven today to elope.

They sped to Hartford by auto at sixty miles an hour, knocked down and killed John Fedora, eight years old, at Park and Main streets, this city, and then raced on at 50 miles an hour until they crashed into four automobiles on Buckingham street.

The Fedora boy was knocked under the wheels of a Wethersfield avenue trolley car, his body cut in two.

Miss Wheaton escaped with lacerations about the head and face. Whiteside was cut on the lip. They were taken to Hartford Hospital.

At the hospital Whiteside became uncontrollable. He was taken later to the Hartford Retreat for Observation.

Police here and in New Haven were asked by Dr. F. L. Wheaton, of New Haven, to broadcast an alarm

Tomblike Cavern Near City Pumping Station Used by Runners to Store Booze

Three men, said to be the backbone of the biggest booze ring in Boston, were arrested today, charged with smuggling. They were Phillip Abeloff, Bellington street, Chelsea; Sam Zin, Memorial street, Winthrop, and Morris Kramer, Carlton road, Dorchester. They are said to have operated on a huge scale, chartering vessels to bring rum to the three-mile limit, from which they arranged to have it brought ashore in small boats. They are said to have supplied Boston's biggest bootleggers.

Cut into a grassy embankment beneath the foundation of the pumping station on Dorchester Bay is a tomb-like excavation, walled and bricked.

Its walls are damp. Beads of cold water glisten when bathed in light. For years and years this tomb-like cavern has been used as a storehouse for old row boats.

BALDWIN THREATENS TO QUIT; DERBY MAY BE NEW PREMIER

London, Nov. 27.—The British political campaign started on its second lap today following the final filing of nominations with a report that Premier Stanley Baldwin will resign if he does not get a parliamentary majority large enough to enable him to carry out his tariff program.

Should Baldwin resign Lord Derby, present Secretary of State for War and warm friend of France, may succeed him. But if Derby becomes Premier Sir Philip Lloyd-Graeme, president of the Board of Trade; Neville Chamberlain, president of the Board of Health, and Lieutenant-Colonel Leopold Amery, parliamentary secretary of the Admiralty, may quit.

The forthcoming election, it is estimated, will cost the country 2,000,000 pounds, in addition to the 1,300,000 pounds spent this year for registration of voters.

APP FOUND GUILTY IN ATTACK ON SCHOOLGIRL; WIFE WEEPS

William F. App, of North Woburn, was found guilty of a criminal attack on Phoebe Dotten, daughter of Selectman Walter Dotten of Winchester by a jury in Middlesex Superior Court, after being out nine hours.

The sealed verdict was opened in court today by Judge Whiting.

"Can you imagine that?" was

W. F. App

App's only comment as he accompanied his sobbing wife from the courtroom. He will be sentenced Monday afternoon.

The attack occurred October 9. When arrested two days later the girl failed to identify App. He was re-arrested two weeks later. His trial has lasted a week.

7 NORMAL SCHOOL GIRLS BACK ON PROBATION AFTER PARTY

Westfield, Nov. 27.—Staging of a week-end party has cost seven fair students at the State (Normal School suspension from the school. But all's well that ends well, the young women exclaim. Following a conference between school officials and their parents they are to be allowed to return "on probation."

Comment would not be made on the details of the between-weeks party by Dr. Charles B. Wilson, in charge of the institution.

It was learned that the girl students left, ostensibly to visit their parents over a Saturday and Sunday. Instead, they are said to have hired a cottage at Congamond on a week-end lease and forgot to come back until they were A. W. O. L.

ACCIDENT KILLED 9 IN FLAMES

Confluence, Pa., Nov. 27.—Samuel Roscoe, his wife and seven children were burned to death in their home here early today through accident, according to the verdict rendered by Coroner H. S. Kimmel.

The investigation disclosed that the heads of the five bodies taken from the ruins of the old log house on the high hill overlooking Confluence were missing, and reports were circulated that the family had been murdered and the house fired to conceal evidence of the crime.

MARCONI 'ON AIR' TONIGHT IN TRANS-ATLANTIC TEST

London, Nov. 27.—At 10 o'clock tonight, New York time, Signor Guglielmo Marconi will attempt to broadcast his speech to America, outlining the future of wireless.

Marconi, who perfected wireless as a means of communication, will speak from his own station, using a 363 meter wave length.

Marconi's talk is the only feature of tonight's program, which is one of the series arranged between the amateur radio fans of America and those of Great Britain.

The programs for Friday and Saturday nights, which will be broadcast to America, have not been determined.

of Italian extraction and overnight converted it into a smuggler's cave.

In it today, astounded police found enough alcohol smuggled in from Nova Scotia to float all the new boats that had ever boned there.

Fifteen hundred gallons of alcohol was the seizure which had all the elements of the kind of a story which should fit with such a grisly sort of cave.

To begin with the pumping station, city property, which pumps sewage far out into Boston harbor is set in a graveyard like setting of lonely looking meadows.

At the dead of night one would want to be found anywhere but at the pumping station.

More at 4 o'clock this morning lay a police sergeant and four patrolmen with drawn revolvers. They had lain all night even for nights previous.

Just as night seemed blackest, which is always before dawn, came the chug-chug today of a heavy motor.

It came toward the bevy of police squatted down at the old grilled gate entrance to the lonely pumping station grounds, stopped and one of a quartet stepped down to make clear the way. Up jumped the police, "Hands up."

Amid flash lamps pistols looked ominous.

MEN ARRESTED.

It was loaded with alcohol boxed in ten-gallon cases stencilled "St. Pierre de Miquelon." To the Fields Corner station was hustled the lead of "talkii" and the men arrested but names withheld pending investigation.

Back to the "Cow Pasture," as the pumping station property is known, went a squad of police in a flivver. And there stumbled onto the old rowboat compartment, now a smuggiers' wise cellar.

In it piled row upon row they found cases of alcohol.

They looked new beside a battered old punt which covered half the length of the 40-foot cavern. More than 1,500 gallons there were in all and it took several trips for the police to move it. This included the original load seized at the gate.

BOOTLEGGERS' BASE.

In uncovering the cache police believe they have found the base of the bootleg ring which has been supplying downtown whiskey fakers with their principal ingredient for putting up spurious whiskey.

The four Italians, they believe, were employed by Boston interests which conceived the idea of creating a cache in such a lonely spot, then hurrying their goods to customers in trucks in the darkness of early morn.

The cave, facing Dorchester Bay, is but a few steps from the shore. There, it is believed, the ring had the alcohol landed from ships in the harbor via row boats. Then the cases were dragged to the cave and stored.

Recently the old cave door was found broken and a city employe mended it without thinking to look within where he might have seen a sight almost worthy of a Captain Kidd treasure thrill.

A passing taxicab, the driver of which did not witness the accident but became aware of it as he passed the spot, stopped and offered his assistance.

The police were summoned by Mrs. Lacallade and Miss McKinnon was taken to the City Hospital. She was dead on arrival at the institution. The body was identified by a registration card, showing her to be a student at Boston University. She had previously taught school at Portland, Me.

It is believed that Miss McKinnon car which had stopped at the corner a moment before the accident.

The Somerville accident occurred last Saturday, but was not reported to the police until today. Peter DeCosta, the boy's father, told the police that several persons were present when his boy was knocked down.

FORCED TO WALK HOME.

When the driver stopped and said he was going to take Eddie to the hospital the witnesses did not interfere. Nor did they, so far as the father could discover, take the number of the car.

While the boy's skull was fractured he did not lose consciousness. The motorist carried him to Mystic avenue, where he stopped the car and made the boy get out. He then sped away.

Eddie walked a mile to his home, having to stop frequently to rest, arrived in a pitiable condition and told his mother the story. She put him to bed. Sunday, when the boy lost consciousness, Dr. E. Howard Flagg was summoned. He found that Eddie was suffering from a slight fracture of the skull.

As Eddie's condition grew worse Dr. Flagg advised the father to report the matter to the police.

A speeding automobile rammed a Whiting milk wagon in Mystic avenue, near Medford, today, and then raced away leaving the driver of the wagon severely injured. Bartholomew Halmkin of No. 201 Riverside

AGED WOMAN SCARED BY BURGLAR; DIES

Mrs. Caroline Stetson Currier, seventy-nine years old, daughter of General Charles C. Stetson of Civil War fame, died at her home, No. 100 Broadway, Lynnfield, of shock she suffered when she was frightened by a burglar she discovered in her home.

Mrs. Currier was awakened recently by a noise on the second floor of her home. She arose, left her room on the first floor of the house and mounted the stairs to investigate. As she reached the second floor she was startled by hurried footsteps. Soon she saw the figure of a man running through the hallway.

The intruder jumped through a window to the porch and leaped from there to the ground and escaped.

Apology, Not Pardon Women Starve Foxes Hiram and Hitchcock Acting, Or Pouring Tea

Current Events

—by Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1923, by Star Company

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE will look into the Craig-Julius Mayer contempt case. Lawyers will tell him there is no precedent for a President granting a pardon in a civil contempt case. The President will probably establish his own precedent.

What is really called for, however, is not a pardon, but an apology from the judicial system that makes a Federal judge imagine that he can imprison, without trial by jury, a public official that criticises him.

WOMAN IN her changing moods produces results surprising. Many foxes must go hungry this Winter, because woman decides that seal skin is not fashionable.

Uncle Sam, who has a seal skin monopoly, finds it hard to sell his skins, even at reduced prices. Therefore, he cuts down, by many thousands, the number of seals skinned, leaving them to live and breed.

The carcasses of skinned seals are the food of many foxes, and these go hungry.

The interpendence of life in its varying forms is fascinating. One State offers a bonus for dead coyotes. Field mice, free of coyote danger, multiply and destroy alfalfa fields and sheep die of hunger.

"THEY SAY" Frank H. Hitchcock will look after the practical side of Hiram Johnson's Presidential campaign, while Senator Johnson attends to the spiritual and fighting part.

That's an excellent combination, and Hitchcock, who has occasionally done his best for dead ones that did not know they were dead, will be glad to work with a genuine live one, for a change.

IT IS announced that Rosemond Pinchot, talented, beautiful and ambitious daughter of Amos Pinchot, will play the leading part, that of the nun, in Reinhardt's play, "Miracle."

A sensible father is Amos Pinchot, permitting his young daughter to develop and use her talent for the public benefit and uplift, instead of condemning her to pour tea while waiting for some little gentleman with serious intentions to come around.

BARLOW MORRIS DIMOND, accused of helping to murder two bank messengers in cold blood, faces detectives and the electric chair, all because his finger prints stained the lining of "the get-away sedan," with marks of blood.

Very embarrassing are those finger prints. If their story is confirmed, Mr. Damond will never murder any other bank messengers.

LIGHT IS shed on the new crime, developed under prohibition, in connection with Mr. Damond's little killing scrape.

He admits that his brother, Joseph Damond, took out the license for the "getaway car under a false name," not "to stick people up and then shoot them down, you understand, but just for running in from Canada with whiskey, or other times when we were doing what wasn't quite right."

"Quite right" sounds quite up to date.

IN A feeble way, attempts are made to "clean up" certain plays on the New York stage. In such cases the way to clean up is to clean out. Stupid indecencies, getting worse and worse, are permitted, and the reputation of decent theatres and decent players suffers.

IN PARIS, at one dramatic institution, a row of women walk toward the footlights, apparently all dressed in evening gowns.

At the footlights they turn, to march back, and the (presumably) delighted spectators perceive that these "artists" have on only that front half of a dress, absolutely nothing of the rear half of a costume.

The French authorities evidently believe that the FRONT half of a dress is enough. Our theatrical people—some of them—think that with us the upper half of a dress is enough. A good deal of cleaning is necessary.

A WOMAN singing in Liverpool was heard distinctly by listeners at Garden City, Long Island. The woman's vocal cords had sent a song four thousand miles across land and water with ease.

How soon will science transmit POWER, without wires and without loss, as it now transmits sound? And what will such transmission mean to flying machines and railroads? It will mean the junking of 90 per cent. of all coal cars, for one item. Coal, turned into electric power at the mines, will be sent through the air, not hauled, bumping over steel rails.

COTTON PRICES for January, March and May all went to new high prices yesterday, and all well above 35 cents. That will help general American prosperity.

WISE FINANCIAL advisers print lists of preferred stocks in "gilt-edged" railroads. If you invest or speculate in railroad stocks, remember that the gilt on the most deeply gilt-edged cannot be warranted to stick. And it is quite likely that common stocks may prove a better investment than the preferred for a while, and as good in the end.

IF THINGS go well, with railroads virtually "writing their own ticket" in the way of rates, for some time to come, it ought to be possible to push up dividends and swell enormously the selling price of the common stocks—the preferred would get only the echo of temporary and violent prosperity. If things go badly, because of motor and flying machine competition the preferred stocks will flop as swiftly as the common. In a hansom cab company there was little choice between common and preferred stock after the taxi appeared.

PROFESSOR MUNRO, who teaches mediaeval history at Princeton, brings back news of an anxious sort about conditions in Palestine. The population is 10 per cent. Christian, 11 pct. Jewish, 78 per cent. Mohammedan.

The Arabs want Mohammed's ideas to rule. The Jews think Jerusalem is theirs—quite naturally, as they built it. The Christians think it's theirs, because they adopted Christianity when it came traveling westward out of Asia. It is a badly mixed situation, says Professor Munro.

Mlle. Mistinguette, the famous French dancer, arrived on the Leviathan on her second trip to America. She is soon to appear in a musical revue.

WHERE IS KEEFE BOOZE, ASKS McCARTHY

"Where is the Keefe Brothers booze?"

A Federal grand jury called McCarthy's administration as dry head lax and hinted mysterious disappearance of vast hordes of seized wet stuff.

It so happens that the raiding of Keefe Brothers Back Bay grocery and capture by Federal sleuths of much fine liquor occurred during the present dry administration, which succeeded McCarthy's.

Therefore the question—

Also, adds McCarthy:

"Why was the shortage in the Keefe Bros.' seizure, which was made by the present administration, not brought to light? Is my administration responsible for this shortage?

"I am informed by officials in this district that seizures have been made since I resigned as supervisor and that a vast amount of liquors seized are gone and cannot be accounted for. May I ask if my old organization is responsible for these shortages?

"I am not attempting to criticise the present administration when I refer to Keefe Bros. seizure, but why not be fair, stop covering irregularities which exist, and place the blame where it belongs.

Following the Keefe Brothers' raid by Federal sleuths when liquors worth $250,000 were seized the case reached Federal Court and the liquor was ordered returned. Most of it had vanished, a scandal ensuing.

McCarthy today took up in full the charges against his administration. He said:

"I resigned as supervising agent of this District June 7, 1921, at which time everything in seized liquors placed in the Massachusetts Storage Warehouse by my agents was re-gauged and intact, and any shortage now found to exist has absolutely occurred since I resigned from this district."

Leviathan Skipper and the King of Bootleggers Are Old Shipmates

New York, Nov. 27.—Many years ago Herbert Hartley and William McCoy were shipmates as apprentice seamen on the old training ship Saratoga.

Captain Herbert Hartley, outwardly calm, but, if the truth be known, bursting with pride, stood on the bridge of the Leviathan as she steamed into her dock after breaking all speed records for a western voyage across the Atlantic Ocean.

"Rummy" Bill McCoy, skipper of th rum smuggler Tomako, which with McCoy and his crew of seven is in custody of federal authorities, paid out $20,000 in bail on two Federal liquor smuggling charges.

"Rummy" Bill ruminated on the coincidence.

"I guess both of us have made our mark," he said. "Harley is skipper of the biggest ship afloat and I'm king of the bootleggers!"

McCoy was held on a charge of illegally transporting liquors in his schooner, the Tomako, and furnished $5,000 bail from a handbag he carried.

Then he went over to Brooklyn, pleaded not guilty to an indictment containing the same charge, a result of the seizure of the schooner Henry Marshall, the first ship of British registry to be seized outside the three-mile limit on rum carrying charges.

He was released on $15,000 bail, which he pulled out of the same handbag. There was $68,000 in that handbag, said "Rummy" Bill, proceeds of the sale of liquor to rum runners along the New Jersey coast.

COOLIDGE WON'T ACT FOR CRAIG UNLESS PLEA IS DIRECT

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Washington, Nov. 27 (C.N.S.).—President Coolidge will allow Comptroller Charles S. Craig of New York to serve his sentence of sixty days for contempt unless he agrees to have his case called officially to the attention of the White House.

The President's attitude is this: Craig's own outlook is unknown to the President. No one has called at the White House with authority to speak for him. He may wish a pardon on the ground that he is innocent. He may wish it on some other ground. He may not wish it at all. He may feel that to serve the sentence would do most to attract attention to the abuses practiced by arbitrary judges.

Whatever may be his attitude the President is unaware of it. President Coolidge does not desire to establish what may be the precedent of intervening in legal cases and court decisions that are not called to his attention by petition of either of the parties involved or of their accredited agents.

To do so would cause him to be the constant arbiter of all cases decided by Federal judges.

President Coolidge has instructed the Attorney-General to lay before him the precedents of contempt cases. There are said to be not more than three or four in all the history of the country.

WARD 15 VOTERS BALLOTING AT 8 TO 8 PRIMARY TODAY

Voting at the special primary in Ward 15 to select candidates to fill the vacancy in the House of Representatives, will for the first time in the history of the city started at 8 o'clock today and will continue until 8 tonight.

The district being overwhelming Democratic, no Republican candidate has entered the fight, although it is possible that inasmuch as only five Republicans are needed to nominate a man, there maybe somebody chosen. There is a possibility that one of the four Democratic candidates may receive both the Republican and Democratic nominations.

The four who are contesting for the Democratic nomination are Martin S. Kilgallon, Joseph M. Ward, John J. Hesta and William Motley, Jr. There are 8,472 registered voters on the list.

JAP FREIGHTER ON ROCKS 10 OF 35 IN CREW SAFE

Seattle, Nov. 27.—With ten men of a crew of thirty-five reported safe in Alaska near Cordova, the fate of the other twenty-five aboard the Japanese freighter Shinkoku Maru is unknown. The vessel's wireless operator has stopped sending, and a ninety-mile-an-hour gale continues.

Radio reports from the tug Hummeonna, which took the freighter in tow off the Aleutian Islands November 15, after the ship had broken away from the United States Coast Guard cutter Algonquin, stated she was standing by. The boat is helpless on the rocks.

CALL NEWBURYPORT M. D. IN PROBE OF GIRL'S DEATH

Haverhill, Nov. 27.—A Newburyport physician whose name has been linked with the death of Miss Edith Taylor, hospital head who died following an illegal operation, has been summoned to appear at the inquest here Saturday. This was announced today by Medical Examiner F. W. Anthony.

The Newburyport physician has so far appeared in the case as the reported sweetheart of the young nurse.

A large number of other witnesses have been summoned to the inquest, which will be held before Judge Winn.

KEEN NOSES OF U. S. SLEUTHS LEAD TO DE LUXE DOPE SEIZURE

United States Inspectors O'Malley and Scannell while passing through Lawrence on a train smelled opium fumes. They got off the train, "followed their noses" and staged an impromptu raid on Common street.

Several men were smoking opium when they entered. Three opium layouts studded with diamonds and rubies were confiscated. Other paraphernalia, including a quantity of opium were seized. Charles Sing was arrested.

M. E. CHURCH GIVES $150,000 TO TRAIN EPISCOPALIANS

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Believed without precedent in American church history, the Garrett Biblical Institute, the Methodist Episcopal Theological Seminary of Evanston, and Northwestern University, Methodist, have deeded property valued at $150,000 to the Episcopal Church with the only condition that the ground be used for the training of clergy of the Episcopal Church, the Rt. Rev. Charles P. Anderson, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, has announced.

WOMEN ARE DUPED BY SHEIK

Quincy police are seeking "Professor" Joseph Vassello, self-advertised world's greatest clairvoyant and love specialist, whom his patients claim had many attributes of the well known sheik family.

A warrant charges the "Professor" with passing bad checks.

Mrs. Marie Sparta, Lake street, East Weymouth, mother of married daughters, says he also made passes before her, claiming to be able to cure her of an organic trouble by the aid of "spirits."

All he wanted for this service, she says, was $1,000. She paid him $300. She still has the illness, but has not seen her $300 since, she says.

"Professor" Vassello has been absent from Quincy for some two weeks. He was supposed to be on a vacation. Now that these charges are coming up against the alleged practitioner, his former horde of women "patients" are losing faith in his Valentino personality.

LOVE SPECIALIST.

Vassello, who is said to have claimed to be able to cure anything, by means of clairvoyances, spirits and hypnotic passes, appeared in Quincy about four months ago. He is said to have come from the West.

On the sunny side of thirty, handsome and attractive, with the best sheik manners, Vassello made an immediate hit. He was a good spender. Everybody called him "Doctor." He didn't object.

He established an office at No. 345 Washington street, Quincy, and got cards printed announcing himself as "The World's Greatest Clairvoyant and Palmist." The card also modestly mentioned that love affairs were his specialty.

There came to him among others Mrs. Sparta, middle-aged woman with fears of an organic trouble. Could he cure her?

TRIED HYPNOTISM.

"He told me I had a bad spirit in me. He said I was cursed.

"He told me he could cure me, or that the 'spirits' could, for $1,000. I paid $100 down.

"He then said the illness could be best cured and that the spirits would work better if we went out in his car. I agreed.

"When we got quite a ways out in the country he would stop the car and make motions before my face with his hands and look at me queerly. I think he was trying to hypnotize me.

"Then he told me the spirits were working and I would soon be better," Mrs. Sparta said.

MIDNIGHT RIDES.

"After a while he proposed that we take these rides at midnight. He said the spirits that worked at night were more efficient and might help me more. I did not go on these rides.

Mrs. Sparta then told of a Brockton woman, Mrs. Marguerite Dimadrio, a codefendant of one of the former's daughters.

"Mrs. Dimadrio is helpless. She is seriously ill and cannot walk," said Mrs. Sparta. "She employed Vassello. Vassello told her he could cure her. She has never been well since."

GEN. WOOD'S VETO IS OVERRIDDEN

Manila, Nov. 27 (A.P.)—The bill remitting penalties on delinquent land tax payers, vetoed by Governor-General Wood, was unanimously passed over the veto today by the Philippine Legislature. The bill now goes to Washington for President Coolidge's consideration.

Washington, Nov. 27.—President Coolidge's position on Philippine independence is based on a belief that the United States should withdraw from the Islands as soon as it considers the people there capable of self-government. To this end the President feels excellent progress is being made.

Sues Banker Mate

MRS. JESSIE MARGARET BUDLONG.

BUDLONG SUED FOR SEPARATE SUPPORT

Newport, R. I., Nov. 27.—Mrs. Jessie Margaret Budlong has brought suit against her husband, Milton J. Budlong of New York, for separate maintenance, and for maintenance of their two minor sons, in Superior Court here.

The Budlongs last Spring purchased the T. M. Davis estate, "The Reef," on Ocean avenue. Mrs. Budlong's petition is on the docket for December.

HIRAM JOHNSON TO START BOOM TONIGHT

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Hiram W. Johnson tonight will dedicate his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. His campaign manager will be Frank H. Hitchcock, whose first announcement was that Chicago would be the central headquarters.

Senator Johnson tonight is expected to present his platform in general terms, probably dealing at some length with foreign relations and taxation.

DYING VETERAN IS GIVEN PARDON

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 27 (I.N.S.)—With a pardon from Governor Smith, Mrs. Mary McGuirk of Watervliet, left Albany this morning for Clinton prison at Dannemora, to bring her son, Stanley, supposed to be dying, back home for Thanksgiving.

McGuirk, a veteran of the World War, was sentenced a year ago. He has been confined to the tuberculosis ward since his commitment.

BIG REVOLT ORDERED TONIGHT

Russian Soviets Are Ready to Quit Germany Because of Ban on "Reds"

Berlin, Nov. 27.—Several prominent Berlin communists were arrested today as a precaution following the circulation of a report, which came to the hands of the authorities, that Moscow had called upon the Berlin Communists to undertake "Bloody Provocations" this evening.

Berlin, Nov. 27 (I.N.S.)—Dr. Heinrich Albert today gave up his attempt to form a new German government to succeed the Stresemann Ministry. Albert was baiked by the intense opposition of the Nationalists.

In a letter to President Ebert, Dr. Albert said:

"I have done my patriotic duty in trying to form a new ministry, but it was impossible to form a political party group cabinet that was satisfactory."

President Ebert proposed to leaders of the Bourgeois parties the formation of a five-party bloc, barring the Socialists.

SEE DICTATORSHIP.

Meantime there was a growing feeling that dictatorship is imminent because it is figured Ebert will have to dissolve Parliament.

The Nationalist press is making a violent and concerted attack against President Ebert. The Deutsche Zeitung demands that General von Seekt "direct" the President.

The Russian Soviet embassy is prepared to leave Berlin at a moment's notice in case of a reactionary dictatorship, it is declared. A tense situation is developed over General von Seekt's order dissolving the Communist party and the Third

FIN. COM. LEADS ASSESSORS A MERRY CHASE ON TAX ABATEMENTS

FIND OATHS FALSIFIED IN HOMES

Also Discover Abatements Extended to Owners in "Comfortable Circumstances"

The Boston Finance Commission vs. the Board of Assessors. And it's a Marathon.

On the rail sit the politicians.

At the steenth furlong the Finance Commission leads, leads by a harpin, their "horse" being a fair dgmcl. And here's what it still about:

Some time ago the Finance Commission started an investigation of the office of the Board of Assessors, digging up all the abatements of property taxes made since the start of the Curley administration.

This was completed as far as the office of assessors was concerned. But, the fair lady didn't stop there. She made a personal investigation of homes where abatements were extended.

She found some who were granted abatements to be in more than comfortable circumstances. Many of them who took oaths on their statements had falsified.

A little bird told the assessors what the Finance Commission was doing. Chairman Edward T. Kelley of the board, got busy and with the other two members, Neal J. Holland and Joseph G. O'Malley, chased out after the body.

IT BECAME A RACE.

Their tour led to the same houses, but they couldn't catch up with the woman.

The race is the sole topic of interest at City Hall. It is still going on. It it wasn't a serious matter the sight of the "three wise men" following the same lady, there would be many a smile.

"REDS" ACTIVE.

For months German Communists have been acting under orders from Moscow agents, notably Karl Radek, who was here incognito.

The Socialist Parliamentary party published a secret letter from Radek to the German Reds reprimanding them for their inactivity and demanding "more action and more noise."

The letter shows that Radek ordered last week's tumult by the Reds in the Reichstag. It said:

"Communists must take such action as will cause them to be removed by force."

U. S. Interests Affected by Separate Ruhr Pact

London, Nov. 27 (I.N.S.).—Great Britain may protest the agreement between the Franco-Belgian occupational forces in the Ruhr and German industrialists, it was reported today when the legal experts of the Foreign Office, the national treasury, the government Board of Trade and the law officers of the crown met to study the details.

Opposition will be on the ground that the agreement gives France and Belgium first claim to cash payment.

Great Britain contends such cash as is obtained under the agreement be turned over to the Inter-allied Reparations Commission for general distribution.

It is contended also that the agreement prejudices the United States' right of priority cash payments to make up the cost of maintaining the American Army of Occupation on the Rhine.

Colonel John A. Logan, American representative upon the Inter-allied Reparations Committee, is understood to have made a report to Washington upon the agreement.

Krupp Mines Reopen Under French Pact

Dusseldorf, Germany, Nov. 27.—Resumption of work today in the Constantine mine, one of the Krupp properties, and reopening of the Thyssen and other enterprises, beginning tomorrow, are given by the French as definite signs that their agreement with the Ruhr industrialists is soon to be translated into action.

Herr Von Metzen has resigned as Foreign Minister of the Rhineland republic. He declares he has spent his entire private fortune for the Separatist cause and cannot afford to continue.

Berlin, Nov. 27 (I.N.S.).—Violent disorders in which many persons were wounded swept through the Ruhr today. Clashes between Communists and police occurred at Essen and Oberhausen.

Members of House Incorruptible Says Gillett

Washington, Nov. 27.—Remarks reported to have been made by Ramsay MacDonald, English labor party leader, led Speaker Gillett to issue a formal statement that in his four years as speaker he had never had reason to suspect any man in the House was influenced in his vote by corrupt motives.

Mr. MacDonald was quoted as having said in a campaign speech that corruption was more prevalent in Washington than in London, and that the House of Representatives was worse in that respect than the House of Commons.

POLICEMEN ARE OUSTED IN BRIBE CASE

Two Boston motorcycle officers have been removed from the police force as the result of being found guilty by a police trial board of charges growing out of reports by automobile speeders that extortion had been used.

Officer Philip D. Bullock of the West Roxbury station was found guilty of taking a watch as guarantee a hush money from a navy motorist caught speeding and with taking $ from a Brighton autoist, another speeder. Officer Bullock was acquitted of a charge of untruthfulness.

Officer James J. McGoldrick of the Jamaica Plain station was found guilty of untruthfulness. He had been ordered to investigate the extortion charges against his brother motorcycle cop and he is alleged to have handed in a "whitewash" report.

Attorney John Donovan, representing the two motorcycle officers, said that he may ask for a public hearing before Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson. If the officers are acquitted at the public hearing they would be re-instated and would receive back pay.

WHIPPLE CRIES OVER PLEA OF WILLETT

Sherman Whipple, veteran lawyer and participant in many bitter legal battles in the Massachusetts Courts, broke down and wept in the Superior Court at Dedham today.

Attorney Whipple was reading into the record of the trial of the suit of Willett, Sears & Company for $15,000,000 against several leading Boston and New York financial magnates a letter written by George F. Willett to Amory Eliot of the Webster & Atlas Bank.

In this letter Willett pleaded for a chance to go his properties back and proposed a plan of trusteeship in which Robert F. Herrick and S. H. Fessenden should act for the creditors and some person, Willett suggested Charles Prescott, appointed by Willett, Sears & Co. to represent their interest.

MEETING OF BANKMEN.

Willett, being on the stand for his twelfth day, testified that this letter was read at a meeting of bankers at which Willett was present. Alfred L. Aiken of the Shawmut and Armory Eliot of the Webster & Atlas Bank were favorable to Willett's proposition. Phillip Stockton of the Old Colony Bank was unfavorable.

He afterward heard that Fessenden and Herrick refused to serve as trustees with anyone whom Willett might appoint.

A telegram from Pinehurst, N. C., signed by Daniel G. Wing, president of the First National Bank, and addressed to Vice President C. H. Dwinnell of that institution, was read as follows:

"Tell Fessenden and Choate (C. F. Choate, Jr., attorney for Willett) I have seen Willett frequently. Believe him to be almost irresponsible mentally and has been for year. Doctor says he must have long rest. Suggest to them possibility of general agreement that would leave him personally small fund. Say $50,000. I pity his present condition and would like to see him eliminated with enough money to live on while recovering. Believe he hasn't a cent saved out."

$1 FOR 4 CENTS.

Willett said that this telegram was sent while he was trying to induce Wing to take some action that would save his properties, which, he said, were being liquidated at ruinous rates.

ROUT BAND OF YOUNG REDS LED BY 'BOY TROTZKY' AGED 11

New York, Nov. 27.—The police bomb squad today reported the discovery in Harlem of a band of juvenile Reds led by "A boy Trotzky"—Leo Granoff, aged 11.

Lieutenant James J. Gegan said he had been put on the case by Justice Hoyt of the Children's Court, after Granoff had been arrested on a technical charge of juvenile delinquency. His arrest occurred at Lexington avenue and 107th street shortly after midnight, when he was alleged to be distributing Communist pamphlets.

The police said nearly a score of boys and girls, all under 14, had been meeting Saturday afternoon. They were met by a man who gave them for distribution radical pamphlets.

The parents, the detectives said, expressed amazement at the political philosophy of their offsprings. Leo's mother, however, was not so indignant, according to the police. She was represented as saying that she and the boy were free thinkers.

INDICT 8 IN LOOTING WHICH CAUSED 4 CHICAGO MURDERS

Chicago, Nov. 27 (I.N.S.).—Grand Jury indicted eight men here today in connection with the $1,000,000 looting of the Werner Brothers' warehouse, a crime which police contend resulted indirectly in four murders. Simultaneously "Dr." Spencer Brown, alleged master mind in the theft and one of those indicted, was arrested by federal officers. He is accused of fraudulently altering government bonds and stamps.

BLOCK OKLAHOMA ANTI-KLAN BILLS

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 27 (A.P.).—Rebuked by their leaders for alleged indiscretiy in their consideration of anti-Ku Klux Klan measures, members of both Houses of the State Legislature went into session today to renew discussion of the proposed legislation, with its opponents holding the whip hand.

The controversy has been extended into the lower House and it becomes increasingly apparent that a protracted and bitter fight is in prospect, before final action on any of the various proposals for an act regulating secret organiations in Oklahoma.

The Senate, having been admonished by Senator Tom Anglin, president pro tem, to cease obstructive tactics and come to a show down, prepared to take up other section of the bill today after killing a clause which would have provided that a court order could compel officers of secret organizations to produce their membership rolls.

PATRONS TO PURCHASE STOCK IN CHICAGO MOVIE HOUSES

Chicago, Nov. 27.—The idea of customer ownership, adopted by some utilities and other concerns, has been taken up by one of the largest motion picture theatre owning corporations in Chicago.

The company has arranged to handle stock subscriptions, and the theatre patrons may purchase from one to ten shares either for cash or on the partial payment plan.

The stock is to be placed on the Chicago Stock Exchange.

MOVE TO EDUCATE 5,000,000 ILLITERATES IN AMERICA

Washington, Nov. 27.—A national conference to discuss plans for eliminating illiteracy among adults will be held in Washington January 11-14 under the combined auspices of the National Education Association, American Legion, General Federation of Women's Clubs and the United States Bureau of Education.

In 1920, when the last census was taken, the announcement said, there were nearly 5,000,000 men and women in the country, who, by their own confession, could neither read nor write.

FLYING TRUCK WHEEL INJURES LYNN GIRL

Eleanor M. Devlin, daughter of Edward Devlin of No. 42 Jefferson street, Lynn, was injured when the wheel of an automobile truck moving down a steep hill on Rockway street slipped from its axle, rolled to the sidewalk and struck the child. The girl was removed to her home, where she is under the care of a physician, suffering from a shock.

Roy F. Leoure, No. 59 Hollingsworth street, Lynn, operator of the truck, was thrown to the street and badly shaken up when the accident occurred.

ASK PARDON FOR NORTH END SLYER

Application was made to the Governor and council today for a pardon for Salvatore Acrompro, lifer serving time for second degree murder. On the night before July 4th, 1911, Antonio Schiappa was killed in a gang fight in the North End. Acconporo was convicted of the crime.

The petition, filed by Attorney Henry J. Roper of Cambridge, states that Acconporo has an excellent prison record and that his father, eighty years of age, needs his son for means of support.

DING! PINT, DING DING! HALF PINT! DING, DING, DING! COPS!

A chute ran from a flat in Lenox street, Roxbury Crossing, to Elijah Glover's grocery store next door. The chute ended in a lean box. By it was an electric bell button.

Push the button—one bell—and presto into the beans shot a pint of liquor.

Two bells—came a half pint.

Cops stayed a raid with the result that Elijah got a three months' sentence to jail in Roxbury Court today. His wife was fined $250. Both appealed. They are colored.

ENGLISH EXECUTED 346 SOLDIERS DURING WAR

London, Nov. 26.—Out of the millions of men in the British Army during the late war only 346 officers and men were put to death by the firing squad.

Two officers were shot for desertion and one for murder. One man was sentenced to death three times, each for desertion. Twice he was reprieved, but the third time he was shot.

Forty other men were reprieved once and then shot. In 266 cases the offense was desertion, though thirty-seven men were put to death for murder. Eighteen were shot for cowardice, three for mutiny and two for sleeping on duty.

JUDGE'S BURGLAR FOUND GUILTY

Philip Spear, who confessed to the police that he was one of three men who broke into Judge Alonzo R. Weed's Newton residence, burglarized the house and bound and gagged the judge, was found guilty today on two other charges.

Spear was found guilty of having burglar's tools in his possession, by Judge Lawton in Superior Criminal Court. He was then placed on trial for breaking and entering the apartment of Mrs. Blanche M. Palmer at No. 204 Hemenway street, Back Bay, and within thirty minutes was a second time "guilty."

A mink fur piece with diamond clasps, valued at $225, which Spear checked at a hotel was identified by Mrs. Palmer as her own. Other furs, jewelry and valuables belonging to her are unrecovered.

Spear will receive sentence later.

An Interesting Statement to Any Family That Wants a Piano—By J. P. COLLINS

My method of selling is simple; I have no set rules as to terms, etc. If you can't keep your agreement to the letter, I won't hold you to it—we simply get together as good friends and fix it up—you know what I mean, arrange everything on a friendly basis and go ahead in a friendly way.

Now suppose you contract to buy a piano from me and with every good intention in the world you are unable to meet your regular payments—well, come to me and explain. Don't be afraid, remember my customers are my friends—and what good are you or me if we can't help our friends? Suppose the wage earner and family provider dies (Heaven forbid) during the life of contract—I, J. P. Collins, simply cancel all indebtedness, the piano belongs to the family. What more can I do? Buy your piano from me and don't worry—I will take care of you.

U. S. MUST WAIT FOR SEVEN BILLIONS IT LENT DURING THE WAR

'PAY DAY' IS VERY LONG WAY OFF

Europe's Vast War Debts "Uncollectable for Indefinite Period," Say Experts

Washington, Nov. 27 (I.N.S.).—Uncle Sam, as a creditor, has on his books about $7,000,000,000, money borrowed from the American people and loaned to Europe which the treasury designates as "uncollectable for an indefinite period."

This substantially will be the report to Congress next week by the American Debt Funding Commission.

Preliminary to reporting to Congress the status of the obligations due the United States on account of war loans made to European countries the American Commission has just concluded a fresh survey of "Europe's ability to pay."

"SITUATION DISTURBING."

The result of this is disturbing to the American government.

The attitude of France is regarded by high officials as "disquieting."

The American Commission for the present has deferred resorting to a policy of prodding France to liquidate her debt, which now totals approximately $4,000,000,000.

The administration takes the view that to bring pressure upon France and other large debtors would be a possible expedient, but doubtful for all practical purposes, as the French government has neither gold nor dollars with which to settle.

The best that France has given the American Commission is a promise hinging upon what officials term purely visionary expectation of what France will force Germany to pay in war damages.

NO HOPE FOR A YEAR.

The American Commission, while not disclosing the more intimate details of its survey, showing a distressing state in the foreign treasuries, will make it clear that it is now only possible for this government to pursue a policy of hopefulness that out of the reparations muddle some more logical common ground may be reached by the disputants, and thereby set going revenue producing channels now dormant.

Aside from debt payments, now being met regularly by Great Britain in liquidation of her debt of nearly $5,000,000,000 there is no belief that government revenues will be augmented from foreign sources for another year or perhaps longer. Officials said it all depends upon Europe putting its own house in order.

Loved and Lost

MRS. J. B. BENNETT

WOMAN KILLED BOY, DECLARES DETECTIVE

Catskill, N. Y., Nov. 27 (I.N.S.)—A woman was the slayer of seven-year-old Howard Rothenberg, Newark, N. J., child who was strangled to death at Windham Mat August, according to John J. Sweeney, Newark detective, who made an investigation of the case.

The detective employed by the boy's father, Charles Rothenberg, was to go before the grand jury today and relate the results of his investigation.

The boy was killed in a barn near the lonely spot where the body was found, according to Sweeney's theory.

The slayer, he believes, then carried the body to the bank of the stream where it was discovered.

Persuaded by the promise of a happy home, Ethel Jordan Buckam, twenty years old, of Winthrop avenue, Watertown, married Joseph B. Bennett, also twenty years old, then and now a student.

But the happy home did not materialize. Neither did any other sort of home, and Ethel now seeks annulment of her marriage.

"He told me he was an automobile salesman for Hartford, Conn., firm, and that he was receiving $50 a week. That was enough to live on, and we agreed to get married," Ethel told Judge Leggat in the East Cambridge Divorce Court.

"But I don't love him any more because he deceived me into believing he was to provide a home and happiness for me.

"We obtained our marriage license from the Medford city clerk without my mother's consent. He wrote on the application that he was twenty-one years old. He was only eighteen.

"After we had kept company for a year, while he was a student at a business college, he told me about the job. He proposed marriage and I agreed.

"After the ceremony I saw him but twice. He said he was under age, that he had no position, and that he had to go back to school."

Judge Leggat took the case under advisement.

Letter From Germany Costs 40 Billion Marks, 5 Cents

Before the World War, the equivalent of five cents brought a letter to the United States from Germany.

It still does.

But Eugene Grant, office boy for Jacob Dreyfus & Sons, No. 68 Summer street, became dizzy figuring it out when he sorted out the mail Saturday. The first of this week he got dizzier still. Saturday's letter had eleven stamps on it. Ten of them were worth 500,000,000 marks alone. The other represented a billion marks. The second of these two to arrive bore four stamps—each to the value of ten billion marks—forty billions in all.

$228 TO CLOTHE GIRL WHO GETS $20 A WEEK

New York, Nov. 27.—A $20 a week working girl should spend 22 per cent of her income, or $228.80 a year, for her wardrobe, which should include one of silk stockings, but no fancy ones according to an exhibit arranged by the Plymouth Church Institute at Brooklyn.

There are surprises for $50, $25 and $10 a week salaries, complete from underwear to coats, from shoes to handkerchiefs. No fur coats are included, but even the $20 budget provides a fur-collared Winter coat, a sport coat, three dresses, a skirt, a sweater, blouses and three hats. It does one girl to $50 a suit is intended and the underwear is silk.

The exhibit, which was originated by Mrs. Dwight H. Day, wife of the pastor of the church, was planned with the modern business girl strictly in mind. The silk stocking allowance is especially large.

Eggs by airplane was the order of Cleveland Farm, Newport, Vt., of Cleveland Farm, Newport, Vt., brought to Boston in four hours and 25 minutes from the time they were collected in the hen yard. The landing was made at East Boston and the pilot was accompanied by Lieutenant Pete Bohannon.

Lieutenan Cleveland, a veteran of many years' service in the commercial air game had an order to be delivered to J. A. Crawford, a Cambridge milk dealer. The order was marked "Rush," and about the time it was received Lieutenant Cleveland was preparing to hop off for a trip to New York in his plane, not caring to take the time a trip by train would necessitate. The six dozen eggs went aboard and the plane went off. The flyers stopped at St. Johnsbury, Vt., for gas and at Concord, N. H., for lunch.

FORD TO SPEND $110,000,000 ON FACTORIES

New York, Nov. 27.—The Ford Motor Company was arranged to spend $110,000,000 for new construction within the next four months to bring the company's capacity up to 10,000 cars daily by February 1, according to dispatches received in Wall Street from Detroit, quoting Mr. Ford.

Mr. Ford also said that the company would in the near future erect its own wool mill in his home State, as it was found that Michigan was nearly as good a wool-producing State as any.

"We do not expect to supply all the wool we use for upholstering, etc.," he said, "but will make a considerable part of our needs if the cost of producing turns out to be what we think."

Part of the new construction, Mr. Ford said, according to The Wall Street Journal, "will be in our Detroit plants and the remainder in other cities. We are expanding all over the United States, because we believe that no such thing as a saturation point exists."

Commenting on conditions generally, Mr. Ford said the best future market is China. The Chinese, he explained, will build their own roads if they can get the cars, and "automobiles will develop China quicker than railroads or missionaries."

OUTLINES PENSION BILL TO COOLIDGE

Washington, Nov. 27.—Pension legislation was discussed with President Coolidge today by Representative Fuller, Republican, Illinois, who later announced he would reintroduce a general pension bill similar to that passed by the last Congress but vetoed by President Harding. The bill will eliminate some of the objectionable features, Mr. Fuller said, and will carry a general increase for Civil War veterans from the present $50 per month to $72 and for widows of Civil War veterans from the present $30 to $50, with proportional increases for veterans and widows of veterans of the Mexican and Spanish-American wars.

THE SALVATION ARMY TO FEED 1,000 TOTS

More than one thousand of the poorest children of Boston will on Thursday be given a sumptuous Thanksgiving dinner by the Salvation Army in Ford Hall at 12:30 and the Rotarians of Boston will put on an entertainment for the children at 11:30.

Mayor James M. Curley has signified his intention of being present. During the past week officers of the Salvation Army have been selecting the most needy children in Boston to partake of the bounty.

BROOKSIDE

What They Mean to the H

Nearly every place you go among the population centers of New England, you can look to right or left and see a BROOKSIDE "Service Station" for fine groceries.

Perhaps, as you think back over the years, you will remember the one little store, from which beginning has grown the vast system now doing business under the name BROOKSIDE STORES.

Simply this: More than 425 BROOKSIDE STORES, buying as a unit in tremendous quantities, can buy at the lowest possible prices. More than 425 BROOKSIDE STORES, operating as a unit under the highly organized "Cash and Carry" plan of management, have succeeded in eliminating almost every costly waste of time, clerical effort and man-power. Those savings are passed along to our customers.

No matter which BROOKSIDE STORE you visit, you will find the same uniformity of quality, variety, price and courteous service that extend over the entire BROOKSIDE System.

And no matter whether you buy tea, coffee, butter, eggs, flour, potatoes, biscuits, canned foods, cheese, milk, cream—anything in the food line—you can be assured that what you get is the very best of its class.

BOXER BRENNAN'S BATTERED NOSE BEAUTIFIED BY KNIFE

ORGAN WAS LANDMARK OF RING

Bruiser's Social Set Are Aghast; Bill May Now Qualify for Movies

New York, Nov. 27.—Tin Ear Alley, the boulevard de luxe of Fistiana, was knocked cold when it was learned that Bill Brennan, Chicago heavyweight fighter, whose nose long has been one of the landmarks of the professional ring had undergone an operation to beautify that somewhat disfigured member.

Dr. Luis P. Berne of this city, a specialist in plastic surgery, and one of the finest in the country, performed the operation at the Jewish Memorial Hospital, where Brennan once spent some time comfortable suffering from concussion of the brain after his fight with Luis Angel Firpo at Madison Square Garden.

Bill Brennan

The operation was a success, according to the hospital officials, who declared Bill would be confined there for three days. At the end of that period the Chicago heavy will stroll down in Ear Alley and jolt the residents thereof for another goal. He recently retired from the ring.

Whether Bill's action was inspired by the near approach of the National Beauty contest or perhaps an offer from Flo Ziegfeld's office could not be learned. It is even possible that Fanny Brice's example induced Brennan under the knife.

Dave Bancroft, the former Giant captain, established the precedent recently when he underwent an operation on his knee, just before he was traded to the Braves.

VIOLIN STUDENT OF LYNN VANISHES

Police throughout New England have been asked to look for Aleck Foster, 17 years old, of No. 16 La Grange street, Lynn, who disappeared last Saturday. Foster, who is a violin student at the New England Conservatory of Music, works in his father's store on Western avenue, Lynn, during his spare time. His father, Jacob Foster, knows of no reason why the boy went. He is an unusually quiet and retiring youth. He is five feet, seven inches tall, weight 120 pounds. He was dressed in blue suit, brown overcoat, brown hat and brown shoes.

Quack 'Butcher'

DR. GEORGE M. SUTCLIFFE. Unionville, Ct., doctor wanted for death of veteran who died from an overdose of ether while undergoing an operation at his hands. He has surrendered to the grand jury now probing the "diploma mill" scandal.

HEAR BAY STATE WITNESSES IN QUACK PROBE

By BERT FORD.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 27.—Dr. Charles E. Prior, chairman of the Massachusetts State Board of Registration in Medicine, testified today before the Grand Jury investigating quack doctors.

The fact that Dr. Prior was summoned before the jury showed he and Miss A. M. Longley, secretary of the Massachusetts Board, have found something i nthe Connecticut records since their arrival yesterday affecting medical practice in both States.

Dr. George M. Sutcliffe of Unionville, who returned from Canada and will be arrested on a charge of manslaughter when he finishes his story before the jury, was temporarily excused to permit Dr. Prior to take the witness stand.

While Dr. Prior was testifying several of the alleged quack physicians sat in the corridor near the entrance to the jury room.

Among them was Dr. Isador Yochelman of Bridgeport. Dr. Prior is know nto have evidence implicating Yochelman, whom he had caught trying to dupe the Massachusetts Board of Registration by applying for the privilege of taking the examination and then sending another man in to take it in his name.

Miss Longley is expected to follow Dr. Prior, after which Sutcliffe will resume his recital, which he began late yesterday.

The latest "physician" subpoenaed is Dr. Bernard I. Kufka of Bridgeport, who "graduated" from Kansas City College of Medicine and Surgery last June.

COP IS ON TRIAL AFTER RAID

Patrolman Robert F. Briggs of the East Dedham street station, charged with conduct unbecoming an officer, has had a trial before Police Commissioner Wilson, who has disposition of the case under advisement.

Testimony at the trial was to the effect that liquor officers, entering a house on Davis street, South End, found Briggs in the midst of a more or less convivial crowd, which was engaged in pre-Volstead indoor sport.

Woman Falls Out Window

While hanging clothes from the window of her home, Mrs. Helen Gatel, thirty-nine years old, of No. 25 Rochester street, South End, leaned out too far and fell to the yard, a distance of ten feet. A neighbor notified the police, who took her to the hospital.

TO SPEED UP MILLS USING U. S. COTTON

Manchester, Eng., Nov. 27.—Two ballots taken of the members of the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners on the question of continued short time running in the mills using American cotton have failed to show the necessary majority either in favor of a twenty-four hour or thirty-two hour week. Short time will therefore cease next week. The decision is regarded as an indication of improving trade.

BROTHER OF FORMER GOVERNOR IS JAILED

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 27.—H. Lee Harvey, Atlanta, brother of former Governor Wilson G. Harvey of South Carolina, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment and $5,000 fine after a plea of guilty to violating the State banking laws in the failure of the Enterprise Bank of which he was a director.

The second trial of former Governor Harvey, who was president of the bank, was postponed until the next term of court.

POLLOCK RIP WRECK GETS DOSE OF TNT

New Bedford, Nov. 27.—The United States Coast Guard cutter Acushnet resumed its operations today of dropping TNT on the ancient wreck off Pollock Rip channel which for some time has been a menace to navigation. The Acushnet dropped 1,700 pounds of the explosive on the wreck, the water spouting in the air to a height of 200 feet.

FRENCH OPPOSE QUICK LUNCH; FAVOR BIG MIDDAY MEAL

Paris, Nov. 27.—The French Academy of Medicine, replying to questions from the Ministry of Hygiene, advises against changing the French custom of a leisurely meal at midday in favor of the quick lunch system practiced in America.

The Ministry asked the Academy first whether it was desirable to do eight hours' work at a stretch, and, second, whether from the hygienic point of view there would be any advantages in modifying the French custom of a light morning repast and a substantial meal at noon.

Reporting for the Academy, Dr. Leon Bernard said a heavy morning meal was a good idea from a medical and an efficiency point of view, but that eight hours was too long for a worker.

In case the shift could be broken as in England and America by a half-hour lunch period, there would be an advantage, for the output of work depends upon breaking the period of work with a time or rest.

PELLAGRA IN CONNECTICUT; STATE SENDS OUT WARNING

Hartford, Nov. 27.—Two cases of pellagra have been reported in this State and the State Department of Health has warned physicians to be on the lookout for puzzling skin diseases.

HARRY'S SHEEP ANNOY BRIGHTON NEIGHBORS

According to neighbors, who had John Harry brought into Brighton Court today, the sheep which Harry pastures near his house at No. 37 Smith street, Brighton, wander through the back yards, breaking fences and eating choice shrubbery. It is not the first complaint against Harry's sheep. Because the government was not ready to try the case, Judge Connelly granted a continuance.

FIVE MARRIAGES ENMESH BARBARA LA MARR IN LEGAL SNARL

By JAMES F. TAGGART.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 27 (Universal).—"Bernard Deeley was never my husband, so how can he sue me for divorce?"

This is the inquisitive paraphrase of a mass of legal phrases filed in superior Court here by Barbara La Marr, famous screen star.

By the filing the "too beautiful" child of cinema fortune tangles further—to the lay mind—the skeins of marital snarls that have sprung from her adventures in matrimony with none less than five men.

Barbara La Marr

The filing came as an answer and a sequel.

As an answer, it replies to the recent divorce complaint of Deeley, husband No. 4, and from whom, says the actresses she supposed she had been entirely freed by the courts when she married Jack Dougherty, husband No. 5, May 8.

DENIES MARRIAGE.

To which Miss La Marr denies she and Deeley "ever were husband and wife."

In his suit Deeley charged desertion and named the star's present husband as a co-respondent.

In her answer, prepared by Frank C. Drew, prominent San Francisco attorney, she also denies charges of over friendliness with a number of men but not specified as to identity.

FREE TO WED.

It is Miss La Marr's contention she and Deeley never were legally married, owing to divorce law technicalities; and, that when she so ascertained, she had annulled the purported marriage, which left her free to wed Dougherty.

Deeley, in his complaint, said he married the actress September 11, 1918, at Fort Lee, N. J., while she and Deeley were associated in a vaudeville tour.

The marriage, she contends, followed a Chicago divorce from Philip Ainsworth, following a brief period of married life with him, husband No. 3.

OBTAINED DIVORCE.

Subsequently, the actress further explains, she was informed by her attorneys her marriage to Deeley was illegal in that the Chicago courts were without jurisdiction to grant her a divorce from Ainsworth. Accordingly, she says, she started divorce proceedings in this State, obtained a final decree and proceeded to marry Dougherty.

Despite all of which, Deeley contends he is the only one of the five husbands who was—or is—the bonafide article. He protests he now wants a divorce so that he may know where he stands in case he decides again to venture into matrimony.

ROTH FACES TRIAL

It was through alleged threatened amendments to Deeley's complaint that Herman L. Roth, his attorney, recently became so entangled in the law that he was arrested on a charge of attempting to extort $20,000 from Miss La Marr and indicted by the Los Angeles County Grand Jury. Roth will be arraigned today in Superior Court here for pleading and his trial is expected within sixty days.

By his alleged amendments, Roth, it is charged, made it appear that specified men, some well known in Hollywood, and Miss La Marr were over friendly. One such is Arthur H. Sawyer, film producer, and by whom Miss La Marr's services as a screen actress are engaged.

The home of Peter Chapetzyk in North Woburn, where the body of Stephen Zarharchk was found battered to death. Chapetzyk, now held in connection with the death and two of his children are shown in the insets.

WOBURN MAN IS ARRESTED AS SLAYER

After hours of questioning by State and Woburn police, Peter Chapetzyk, thirty-five years old, of No. 8 Jones avenue, North Woburn, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the mysterious death of Stephen Zarharchk, sixty-four years old, a boarder at his home.

Peter's arrest resulted when he failed to satisfactorily explain his movements on the night of the man's death and when he failed to explain why he had not notified the police of the death after, he claims, he and a friend discovered the body.

The police learned of the affair through an undertaker who had been summoned by Peter ten hours after the discovery of the body. Peter offered the alibi that he had been away from home with Ludwig Koczergo, a friend. The latter denied this, declaring he had met Peter shortly before they discovered the body. The two had gone to the house together he said, and finding it locked, entered through a window. They found Zarharchk moaning in the dining room, he said.

Medical Examiner Vernon C. Stewart found the man had died of a fractured skull, neck, and jaw. His face was badly battered.

Peter offered the theory that his aged boarder had fallen down a flight of stairs. The police disbelieve this theory because the body was not, according to Peter's own story, found at the foot of the stairs.

Peter told the police he hired the old man to keep house for him a week ago following the death of his wife.

ANTI-JEWISH MONEY STIRS POMERANIA

Stolt, Pomerania, Nov. 27.—Anti-Jewish feeling has been manifested in a novel form by the appearance of the new local emergency paper money, based on rye values, issued by the Agrarian Union, on which are printed the words, "Not valid in Jewish hands." Attempts are being made to declare such a restriction illegal.

Spanish Majesties Watch in Vain for Miracle

Milan, Italy, Nov. 27 (Universal Cable).—The King and Queen of Spain while at Naples visited the Cathedral San Gennaro and the chapel where there is preserved the "blood of the saint, which liquifies once every year."

The repetition of the miracle was anxiously expected, but did not happen.

The Royal visitors will leave tomorrow for Spain. It is officially denied that King Alfonso will wear the "black shirt" while reviewing a parade of 10,000 Fascisti.

JUDGE 'EXCUSES' SPEEDING STAR

New York, Nov. 27.—Ada May Weeks, who has become Ada May since she is to star in the Henry W. Savage production of "The Lollipop," appeared in an ensemble, although she had a small part to be sure.

Ada May

She formed one of the 293 who appeared before Magistrate Ryttenberg in the Traffic Court to tell why it chanced that on a certain evening the automobile she was driving was trying to beat speed records over at Forty-ninth street and Tenth avenue.

"Well, you see, Mr. Judge," said the young comedienne, "I live in Seventieth street and was down to appear at the Hungarian benefit at the Manhattan Opera House, and I was late for the rehearsal, so you see, you know——

"Yes, you stepped on the gas," said the Judge. Miss May, or Miss Weeks, nodded in a contrite manner and the judge suspended sentence at once.

RESCUE 4 BOYS IN GALE-DRIVEN MOTOR BOAT

Four Long Island, N. Y., boys were brought into port aboard the collier Middlesex, which had rescued them as they were being blown to sea in a disabled motorboat by a gale.

Seasick and helpless, the lads had been cooped up in the small cabin of their boat, which for eighteen hours was at the mercy of the gale.

The little craft was battered about all night in the heavy sea. It had been carried thirty-two miles from the Long Island shore when the collier, travelling outside its regular course from Norfolk because of the gale, came along side.

Herbert Munsie Ray Ruppert

Second Officer William Brodersen of No. 3 Dewey street, Dorchester, risked his life by a leap from the deck of the collier to the pit of the motorboat, as it bounded about on the waves in the downpour of rain.

Brodersen made fast a rope from the Middlesex to the motorboat. The boys were too weak to climb up the rope and another rope was thrown down, and over into the exhausted lads were brought up to the deck of the collier.

The quartet were brought up the harbor by the police boat and housed for the night in the Mariners' Home, North Square. Today their parents, hurrying to Boston by train, were

SODALITY GIRLS TO GIVE TURKEY WHIST

The Young Ladies' Sodality Club of St. Joseph's Church, Maplewood, will give a turkey and whist party in Pythian and Powers Hall in Maplewood. The reception committee include the Misses Margaret

U. S. OFFICIALS IGNORE LINER LEVIATHAN

New York, Nov. 27.—The sorry spectacle of the greatest ship owned by Americans being ignored by U. S. health service doctors, because she had anchored a short disance out of quarantine station, was witnessed by thousands when the Leviathan arrived here.

Not until she weighed anchor under adverse tide conditions, steamed a short mile and then re-anchored, did the doctors go to her.

The treatment of the American ship shocked those who learned of it, particularly because the Leviathan had just made a record-smashing run from Cherbourg to New York.

Though the Quarantine doctors refused to make the short run to where the Leviathan was at anchor, it is a fact that when large British ships anchor at the spot the Leviathan was forced to select, the quarantine doctors go out and examine them.

As a result of the ignoring of the Leviathan, though it lay only ten minutes' steaming distance from the quarantine station, the passengers were much inconvenienced.

EARL CARROLL SOON TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

New York, Nov. 27.—Earl Carroll, playwright and producer, said he was feeling "fine" and would leave the hospital in a day or two. Mr. Carroll was operated on for abscess on the left knee at the New York Hospital for Crippled and Injured. He added he was improving so fast it would be unnecessary to take a vacation, and that he would resume work as soon as he was discharged.

Faces Death, Loss of Ears and Exile for Taking His Cow

Winnipeg, Nov. 27 (I.N.S.).—Hanging or cutting off of the ears of the accused and deporting him to the penal colony of Australia are the only penalties under existing legislation for the offense of which Angus McDonald stands accused. McDonald took a cow from the public pound, despite the protests of the pound-keeper, and led her back to his herd, from which she had strayed.

A charge of pound-breach was laid before the courts. It was found that the Canadian criminal code applied no penalty for pound-breach.

Reference was made to the English common law. An enactment of more than 150 years ago, it was found, provides that the criminal guilty of such an offense shall be executed, or his ears removed and be deported to the penal colony of Australia which was taken from the category of criminal colonies years ago.

The Canadian House of Commons probably will be called on to settle MacDonald's case.

WHEAT CAMPAIGN HELPS FRANCE

Washington, Nov. 27.—France is producing about ninety per cent. as much wheat as it did before the war, according to Department of Agriculture reports. Progress in restoring the soil, factories and mines to working order has increased the population in that area from 2,000,000 at the time of the armistice to 4,207,000 at present.

Wheat production of 230,474,000 bushels in 1923, an increase of 60,000,000 over the 1922 crop, is attributed to a "raise wheat" campaign conducted by the government which resulting in an increased planting of about 680,000 acres.

All except 1,000,000 of the 8,000,000 acres in the war zone have been cleared of barbed wire and trenches, and explosives have been removed from practically the entire acreage.

RARE TREASURE FROM TOMB OF TUT IS SHOWN

Luxor, Egypt, Nov. 27 (AP).—Six more showcases containing rare and beautiful treasure s from Tutenkhamen's tomb have just been added to the collection of seven cases already on display in the Cairo Museum, giving visitors an admirable idea of the artistry of the eighteenth dynasty craftsmen.

Probably the finest piece in the collection, of which almost every object is a masterpiece, is the Pharoah's little jewel box, of solid ivory yellowed with age, with knobs, hinges and fee tof solid gold, inscribed on the front with the King's name and on the back with the lotus symbol of Upper Egypt.

Also of interest are the King's buckles, of openwork sheet gold, with scenes inlaid in tiny golden granules, representing a process said to be unknown today, while the gold pendants, scarabs and bezels are exquisitely carved.

SEARCH FOR MISSING SOUTH BOSTON BOY

Frank De Costa, eighteen years old, of No. 886 East North street, South Boston, is missing. According to his relatives, he had been threatening and on Monday night was eating supper when a boy friend called him outside. Frank returned, finished his supper, then went out in his shirtsleeves. He hasn't been home since and his parents are searching for him.

He is about five feet six inches tall, weighs 120 pounds and wore a green shirt, brown mixture trousers, black high shoes and gray cap.

LIBERALS FIGHT GILLETT AND IRON RULE OF THE "OLD GUARD"

WILL BLOCK COOLIDGE MESSAGE

Demand Revision of Rules and End to Secret Methods of Leaders in Congress

By JOHN T. LAMBERT.
Cosmopolitan News Service.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The United States Congress will be plunged into the bitterest fight next Monday since Joe Cannon, once czar of the House, was humiliated and Cannonism dethroned.

A fighting band of Liberals, headed by Congressman John M. Nelson of Wisconsin, today pledged themselves to prevent the election of Speaker Gillett until the old guard Republicans and Democrats yield to their demands for a wholesale revision of the rules which will permit the business of the American people to be transacted "above board and on the level."

President Coolidge may be allowed to sit in the White House holding a copy of his first message to Congress until it becomes tattered and musty.

HOLD BALANCE OF POWER.

Liberals of the farm bloc have joined with progressives in both the Democratic and Republican parties to break down the arbitrary rules which permit public business to be stifled by steering and rules committees.

Details of the secret negotiations which have been in progress here for several days in the hope of saving Congress from this sensational fight are publishable now for the first time.

The refusal of Congressman Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee, Democratic leader of the House, to agree to liberalize the rules makes the fight certain.

Congressman Nelson heads a band of more than twenty liberal Republicans. They hold the balance of power. Nelson says he has seen stacked committees gradually getting control of Congress. Committee chairmen put bills into their pockets and forget them.

There is no guarantee of public hearings. There are no record votes of committees on legislation. Congress can only act on what the steering committee is willing to bring up.

NO BUSINESS SECRETLY.

"In short," said Mr. Nelson, "the business of Congress is now being done secretly, arbitrarily and wilfully by little, powerful groups, who ignore the handwriting on the wall despite the fact that at the last election the people cut their majority here from 170 to 17."

Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York, a liberal Republican not identified with the Nelson liberals, began months ago to lay his plans for an attack upon the reactionary rules.

Judge R. Walton Moore of Virginia, an independent Democrat, had also begun an independent study with the view of training his guns upon them. When the trails of all three began to cross, Nelson said to them:

"You gentlemen make the fight and get the credit that is due you for your long study of the situation. We will support you."

Fish, realizing the hopelessness of attempting to convert the old guard Republican leaders, made an intensive study of the Massachusetts rules, where every bill is given a public hearing and must be passed upon by committees, House and Senate, where pigeon-holing is taboo. He said:

"If they're good enough for Mr. Coolidge's, Mr. Gillett's and Mr. Lodge's home State, they ought to be good enough to be supported in part, at least, by those gentlemen down here."

CANTON REJECTS TOWN MANAGER PLAN

Canton, Nov. 27.—Canton, at a special meeting, rejected the town manager form of government and voted 242 to 141 to retain the old New England town meeting. Last March at the annual town meeting, a committee of fifteen members was appointed to draw up a new form of government. The committee visited Norwood, Stoughton and Mansfield, where the town manager form is in force, and drew up a new plan of government based on all three.

Society Girls to Appear in Tableau Tomorrow, Says Betty Alden

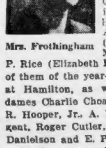
By BETTY ALDEN.

MOST discerning eye has selected the group of matrons and maids who will pose in the tableaux taking place in Jordan Hall tomorrow evening in aid of the James Marsh Jackson League.

For those to take part in the living pictures are all of considerable charm or pulchritude, or both. Prominent among the matrons is vivacious Mrs. Reggy Foster, who has lost none of the sparkle of her Francis Hoar days; another is Mrs. Robert F. Herrick, Jr. (Thelma Hall), who is as accomplished asc she is pretty, e having considerable talent with the brush and easel.

Many eyes, I'm sure, will be focused upon an attractive bride recently come to Boston to make her home and who is of those lending their charms to the tableaux. She is Mrs. Theodore Grosvenor (Anita Strawbridge), whose wedding last June to the popular Boston-New York-Providence bachelor drew a large contingent to Bryn Mawr. The couple, by the way, are now making their home out Brookline way on Warren street after an extensive wedding journey abroad.

Mrs. Theodore Frothingham, Jr. (Eleanor Fabyan), who is always called upon when society stages an affair of this sort, is also of tomorrow evening's coterie. Other matrons include Mrs. Harcourt Amory, Jr. (Sue Wood), Mrs. Tom E. P. Rice (Elizabeth Lyman), both of them of the year-round colony at Hamilton, as well as Mesdames Charlie Choate 3d, James R. Hooper, Jr., A. Robeson Sargent, Roger Cutler, Richard Ely Danielson and E. Preble Motley.



Mrs. Frothingham

Of the young girls who will help portray the works of old masters are the Misses Hope Gaston, Magdalena Gronslet, Gertrude Russell, Ella Snelling, Anna Winslow, Alice Thomas and Frances Weld.

THANKSGIVING week holds not a few interesting parties for the bud contingent, not the least important being the dinner dance which Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Herrick are giving tonight at their Milton home.

The affair is in honor of Mr. Herrick's daughter, Miss Alice Herrick, one of the most popular buds of the season. It was only recently that Mr. and Mrs. Herrick returned from abroad. With them was Miss Alice Herrick and Mrs. Herrick's son, George Rice. Mrs. Herrick was formerly Mrs. Margaret P. Perkins Rice, widow of George T. Rice. Her marriage to Mr. Herrick in October of last year caused a considerable flutter of interest among their set.

CAPTAIN AND MRS PHILIP SHERWOOD (Elsie Burr) who had an apartment on the Fenway last year, have joined the younger married colony out Dedham way.

Mrs. Sherwood

Mrs. Sherwood, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Tucker Burr, was largely responsible for the forming of a sketching and painting class held several times a week along the rocks at Nahant, where the Sherwoods spent the Summer. Captain Sherwood is a crack polo player.

GOV. MORROW ON RAIL BOARD

Washington, Nov. 27.—Governor Edward P. Morrow of Kentucky has been appointed by President Coolidge to succeed R. M. Barton as a member of the public group of the Railroad Labor Board, in fulfillment of an arrangement made by the late President Harding. Mr. Morrow is to take up his new duties after the expiration of his term next month.

Judge Barton has been serving under a recess appointment which was made by President Harding, according to White House officials, after Mr. Morrow had been offered the post and had been granted a request that his appointment be postponed until he had completed his term as Governor.

It was explained that President Coolidge had no intention in making the appointment to force Judge Barton out of the board, but merely desired to carry out the agreement of the former President.

YOUTH RETURNS AND WEDS GIRL HE JILTED

Springfield, Nov. 27.—Archie J. Greene, the missing Feeding Hills bridegroom, who disappeared last Wednesday morning on the day his wedding was to have taken place, is missing no longer.

Furthermore, friends say he has made good his promise to marry Miss Eleanora Catherine Longua of Brattleboro, whom he left waiting at the church, when he listened to a bachelor pal, and dropped out of sight.

The delayed wedding took place in St. Thomas' Church, where the original ceremony was to have been performed, according to friends of the couple, although the officials of St. Thomas' Church declined to confirm the statement.

Miss Longua, herself, declined emphatically to discuss the affair in any way whatsoever.

The six days' honeymoon which had been arranged by Greene has evidently been cut to a day because of the unscheduled event of Wednesday, as Greene notified the Boston and Albany shops, where he is employed, that he would return to work today.

SOCIETY HEARS TALE OF WAR PRISONER

Ralph Chaplin, ex-editor of the I. W. W.'s official anti-war organ, and former agitator of the organization in the Chicago slums, who served a five-year term at Fort Leavenworth Prison, held forth at the home of Dr. Richard C. Cabot on Brattle street, Cambridge, before an audience made up of Boston and Cambridge society women, Harvard and Radcliffe students and others.

Dr. R. C. Cabot.

The subject of Chaplin's discussion was free speech and the advisability of pardoning the thirty-two radical labor leaders who are still "political prisoners" in federal penitentiaries serving sentences for war-time violations of the Espionage and Enemy Alien acts.

Chaplin strongly urged the pardons and entered into a detailed description of the misery and suffering he underwent during his confinement in prison. He was introduced by Dr. Cabot himself, as "a friend of a friend." Prominent in the audience was Dr. Charles W. Eliot of Harvard.

Chaplin set forth the aims of the Red organization as not to spread violence but to avoid it. He outlined the purpose of the I. W. W. as that of striving for a peaceful end to all labor troubles and a bloodless end to world strife.

"There is no Red menace in America," he said, "The common sense and level-headedness of the American people as a whole are an insurance against armed revolution in this country."

SQUADRON STARTS AROUND THE WORLD

Plymouth, England, Nov. 27.—A special service squadron under the command of Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field sails today for a 30,000-round-the-world cruise. The ships are the battle cruisers Hood and Repulse and the light cruisers Delhi, Dauntless, Dragon and Danae.

After calling at Sierra Leone, the squadron makes Cape Town, India, Singapore, Australia, Honolulu and British Columbia, then to San Francisco for July 4. The Hood and the Repulse pass through the Panama Canal on their journey home, while the light cruisers go to Callao to take part in the Peruvian celebration.

TWO BIG CABARETS PLANNED IN AID OF BASKET FUND

DANCING PUPILS TO ASSIST

Charlestown and South Boston Events Are Set for Next Month

Two big cabarets, with dancing to follow, have been arranged in behalf of the American's Helping Hand Christmas Basket Fund by Charlestown and South Boston girls.

The first of these cabarets will be conducted in Roughan's Hall, City square, Charlestown, on Thursday evening, December 13, under the personal direction of Miss Bernadette Doyle.

Several of the talented pupils of Miss Doyle's dancing studio will participate in the cabaret numbers. They include: Miss Mary Kenney, Miss Grace Harrington, Miss Dorothy O'Connell, Miss Alice Loring, Miss Catherine Powers, Miss Mary Pierce, Miss Alice Goggin, Miss Anna Galvin, Miss Teresa Doyle, Miss Helen Doyle, Miss Agnes Doyle and Mds. Fred Monagle.

Members of Billy McBride's famous orchestra have offered their services free for the occasion through the courtesy of the A. F. of M. As the residents of Charlestown generously patronize benefit entertainments, it is believed that a big gathering will be on hand for the cabaret to aid the American's Christmas Fund.

BACK BAY CABARET.

The second cabaret and dance in aid of the Fund will be conducted in the Madame Lyman Studio, No. 337 Massachusetts avenue, Back Bay, by Miss M. Dorothy Mahoney, a popular South Boston girl. Madame Lyman has generously donated the use of her attractive new studio for the party. Miss Mahoney will be assisted in making the affair a success by Miss Ethel Dillon, Miss "Billie" Miller, Miss Josephine O'Neil, Miss Harriet White and Miss Mary Martin.

Miss Lillian F. Brown, a popular South Boston dancing teacher, will present her new version of "The Christmas Toy Shop" in behalf of the American's Fund. This attractive entertainment will be held in Municipal Building, South Boston, on Friday evening, December 14, and will be followed by general dancing.

Two orchestras will take part, including Ray Benoit's. All members of Mr. Benoit's orchestra have donated their services. This orchestra is considered one of the best in Greater Boston.

The Boston Post Publishing Company, through its treasurer Edwin A. Grozier, contributed $100 to the American's Fund. The Boston Post has been a regular contributor. In sending the check Mr. Grozier wrote, "Wishing you full success in your philanthropic work of this ——"

THEATRE BENEFIT.

Tickets are selling rapidly for "The Lady in Ermine," the light opera which will open at the Wilbur Theatre next Monday night. Through courtesy of the Messrs. Shubert, 10 per cent. of the proceeds of the opening performance will be contributed to the American's Fund so that many needy family may have a good Christmas dinner.

"The Lady in Ermine" is said to be one of the finest romantic light operas seen in this country for many years. It contains many tuneful songs and comedy of the highest type. It ran for an envire season in New York last year, and was also successful in London, Paris and Vienna.

Get busy folks! Order your seats NOW for the opening night. By doing so you will not only have the pleasure of seeing one of the best musical shows of the season but also help feed over-worked mothers and their little children on Christmas Day.

VOLUNTEER SERVICES TO HELP FEED NEEDY

Miss Brown is to present her version of "The Christmas Toy Shop" in Municipal Building, South Boston, Friday night, December 14, to be followed by general dancing.

Miss Doyle is planning a dance and cabaret in Roughan's Hall, Charlestown, Thursday evening, December 13, for the Fund. Photo above that of Miss Doyle is of Little Mildred Gerstein, dainty dancer, who is also to entertain in behalf of the fund.

INTERESTING PLOT.

Unlike many light operas, "The Lady in Ermine" has a well defined plot. A cavalry troupe, headed by a domineering colonel, invades the castle of a countess. The colonel falls in love with the irresistible countess. She repels his advances later he helps save her brother, who has been condemned as a spy, and—but why tell you the whole story? Get tickets for next Monday night and you will know the rest.

PEEWEE' GRAY IS DYING OF STABS

Arthur "Peewee" Grey, pitcher for the Boston Tigers, the leading negro ball team in New England, is dying at the City Hospital today of stab wounds. The police say that Robert Austin, another negro, inflicted them following a row over a woman.

Austin was arrested by Sergeant Egan and Patrolman Kelley of the East Dedham street police today and listen to the dying man's side. Grey identified Austin, who wept and said that he "must have lost his head to do such a thing."

The stabbing occurred on the Castle street bridge last night. Four wounds were inflicted, one of which penetrated Grey's lungs. Two other wounds are serious.

GHOST STORIES MAY COST JOB OF TEACHER

New Hampton, N. H., Nov. 27.—Fairy tales and ghost stories told to pupils in the Plaisted School are likely to cost Miss Florence Abear, 22-year-old teacher, her position if the parents of these pupils have their way.

Protesting that nightmares resulting from the stories have disturbed the children's slumbers, indignant parents assembled in the town library here and demanded that Miss Abear be immediately dismissed.

THREAT TO CLOSE SCHOOL.

Superintendent Ernest W. Small is standing on the side of the teacher, while School Committeeman Leslie Smith, who, with Mrs. Mary Swain and John March, form the membership of the board, is alleged to have threatened to close the school and force Miss Abear to find a position elsewhere.

At present the school is closed for the Thanksgiving recess, but Superintendent Small says it will be reopened on Monday with Miss Abear still in charge.

GIVEN NIGHTMARES.

Mrs. David Brown was the chief objector to Miss Abear in the protest before the school board. She asserted that her eight-year-old son had been troubled with nightmares lately as a result, she claimed, of fairy tales and ghost stories read by the teacher.

Among other complaints made by Mrs. Brown and seconded by Mrs. George Kelley, were that there were not sufficient devotional exercises held at the morning session of the school; that psalms were not sung nor the Bible read.

The superintendent declared that it was not the duty of the teachers to teach psalms and Bible stories and that she was obeying orders.

NORMAL GRADUATE.

Miss Abear, following her graduation from the Plymouth, N. H., Normal School, taught in Plymouth for a year before coming here. After her first term at the Plaisted School the parents made an effort to have her dismissed, but the school board members announced that they would have to give her her salary anyhow. So she started the second term and with the advent of the new superintendent was making good progress until the outburst of parents.

Miss Abear announced that she will stand by her guns.

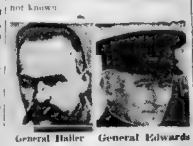
POPE PIUS UPSETS CONCLAVE CUSTOM

Rome, Nov. 27.—Pope Pius has departed from tradition in fixing the dates for the coming secret and public consistories. It has been the custom to hold the former on a Monday and the latter on a Thursday, but this time the Pontiff has chosen December 20, which falls on Thursday, for the secret conclave and December 23, Sunday, for the public meeting.

PLANS TO FETE GEN. HALLER CHANGED

A sudden decision by General Joseph Haller, Polish war hero, to remain in Boston only a few hours has caused General Clarence R. Edwards, State commander of the American Legion, to announce a change in the program for the general's visit.

While the recent protests received by Mayor Curley against extending an official welcome to the foreign army officer were responsible for the decision of the latter to limit his visit in Boston, Friday, is not known.



General Haller — General Edwards

General Haller will arrive in Boston about 11 o'clock Friday morning and will leave the city immediately after a mass meeting at the Cadet Armory in the evening. The general will be met at the South Station by a committee from the American Legion and a group of Polish-Americans who fought under him during the World War.

The party will proceed to the State House to attend a reception in the Hall of Flags. A luncheon at the Copley Plaza, at which the general will be the guest of Governor Cox will follow. Following the luncheon the party will visit Harvard University. General Haller will then call on General Andre W. Brewster and Mayor Curley.

A banquet at the City Club will take place at 8 with Cardinal O'Connell and Bishop Lawrence among the guests.

Ox-Cart, 100 Years Old, Bought by Henry Ford

Binghamton, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Henry Ford purchased an antique in Smithville Flats, Chenango County, it became known after the automobile manufacturer's trip through this section. This latest addition to his collection is an ox-cart, 100 years old, which has been in the possession of Frank Harrison, a farmer. What Mr. Ford paid for the cart or what he intended to do with it could not be learned.

BOSTON CARMEN'S ELECTION

Fewer ballots than have been cast for years were used in nominating William F. Walsh and Matthew J. McLaughlin, for the office of business agent for Boston carmen's union. Final count today showed 2,045 for McLaughlin and 1,730 for Walsh. Total ballots cast were 3,583 out of a possible 9,000.

Charles N. Clark was unopposed for president. J. J. Foley and C. J. Dwyer were nominated for vice president. Miss May E. Songster and J. J. (Foley) Lyons were nominated for assistant secretary and James A. Keenan was unopposed for executive board in division one.

EX-MAYOR PETERS TO QUIT HOSPITAL

Former Mayor Andrew J. Peters was to leave the Charlesgate Hospital today, according to the hospital authorities.

The hospital received a number of inquiries as to Mr. Peters' condition and all who called were notified that the former Mayor Ex-Mayor Peters, ad improved so greatly that his condition warranted his removal to e home.

CONVICTS PAID $30,000 TO ESCAPE

Honolulu, Nov. 27.—Louis Edwards, who admits he is one of six prisoners who escaped from the Eastern Penitentiary of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, July 14, according to police, was arrested here. Edwards came to Honolulu recently with the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, which visited Hawaii on a trade excursion.

According to his story, the six prisoners paid $30,000 to guards at the penitentiary and were permitted to escape in an ash wagon.

When he was arrested, Edwards was engaged in preparing a booth at a carnival. He is said to have been the "life of the party" during the sea voyage of the trade excursionists.

CRIMSON RISES IN DEFENCE OF HARVARD RUM

An editorial in the New York Times expressing alarm at the extent of drunkenness in Harvard, Princeton and Yale, and other "seats of learning since the passage of the Volstead act has aroused Harvard students and has resulted in an answering editorial in the Harvard Crimson, daily publication of the college.

The Crimson charges that the attack was prompted by a tendency "to exaggerate the importance of the evil in an attempt to cater to public taste." The Crimson also declares "the evidence on which the Times bases its argument is unsatisfactory and incomplete."

Editorially, the Tiffs infers that prohibition in general is a failure in college, and that college authorities should take it upon themselves to eradicate all drinking and drunkenness among students.

Says the Crimson in reply:

"Reports on which the Times bases its arguments are often misleading. The good old days have always been happy ones, free from vice and undegenerate. The present always gets the forst of it—in reports. But as a matter of fact the character of students probably changes very little in the passage of a generation and it seems to be stretching the point to say that drunkenness has increased much since that 'evil day' when the Volstead act was passed."

"The stories which 'old grads' love to tell, the cartoons which Lampy printed long ago, the accounts of the celebrations after former football games, all seem to indicate that the glowing bowl was as freely partaken of then as it is now."

The Crimson attributes the reports of drunkenness at Harvard to "the common sense of humor which guffaws at any joke smacking of anything alcoholic, which seises on any case of drunkenness and which spreads the story as fast as it may."

Increase in drunkenness among college authorities is dougted by the Crimson because "illicit liquor is an increasedly epensize—but, it seems, Harvard, Yale and Princeton are regarded as merely one continuous 'gold coast.'

"The need for extraordinary measures is slight," says the Crimson Harvard authorities will probably continue to take action only on extreme and exemplary cases, and the crop of wild oats will probably grow less in time, due to the scarcity of the seed and to an increasing sanity on the part of the sowers."

SHORT SKIRTS COMING BACK, SAYS EXPERT

Atlantic City, Nov. 27.—The return of the short skirt was predicted by David N. Moessohn of New York, presiding officer at the annual convention of the Associated Dress Industries of America. "Advice from Paris," he said, "has stated that the dress of the fashionable woman should be eight inches from the ground." In convention circles this word from Paris was taken as assurance that the short skirt would come back in the very near future.

DEFY BLUE LAWS; TWO FACE ARREST

Bangor, Me., Nov. 27.—The wrangle over the closing of stores here on Sundays was revived when Judge Butterfield of the local court issued warrants for the arrest of two store keepers, Max Breidy and Harry Viner, who conduct establishments on Hancock street, and are alleged to have done business on Sunday.

Harvard's dashing football captain has forgotten all about losing that sorrowful aquatic contest against Yale. The announcement is made of his engagement to marry Cambridge girl who is a prime favorite in Greater Boston society

MISS ANNA FULLER

The engagement of Miss Anna H. Fuller of Cambridge to Charles J. Hubbard of the Harvard football team was announced at a tea given by Miss Fuller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Fuller, of No. 55 Brewster street.

C. J. Hubbard

Miss Fuller, who attended school at Dobb's Ferry, was presented at a dance at Buckingham Hall in Cambridge in December, 1920. She is a tennis player of considerable ability. Much of her interests have been centered in Lancaster, where her family have a home.

Mr. Hubbard, who is in the class of 1924 at Harvard, as a member of the engineering school, has just completed his third year as guard on the football team. Last year he was unanimously elected captain and was named an all-American guard on many mythical elevens, including that of Walter Camp. He is 21 years old, prepared at Milton Academy, played freshman football and rowed on the freshman crew. Last June he rowed No. 5 on the four-mile crew against Yale. He is a member of the Delphic Club, D. K. E., and Institute of 1770.

BANDITS FORCE COP TO HELP THEM ESCAPE

Joplin, Mo., Nov. 27.—A captured policeman was forced to drive to freedom four bandits who participated in the hold-up of the bank of Asbury, at Asbury, Mo.

The kidnaped officer was Clarence Allison, who engaged the men singlehanded in a field near Crestline, Kas., only to be overpowered and made an instrument in their escape.

Several hours after the robbery, Allison came upon the quartet on a road near Crestline and opened fire. The bandits abandoned their motor car and took to a field. Allison headed his automobile into the field, but it became mired and he continued the pursuit afoot, cut off three of the bandits and started marching them towards the road.

A gun pressed against his back and a command to "drop that gun" announced a rescue by the fourth bandit.

Returning to their car with Allison the bandits found the machine stalled and commandeered a car belonging to J. A. Lucas of Columbus, Kas.

Allison was forced to drive the car south nearly to the Oklahoma line, where he was released.

The bandits got approximately $1,200.

INTRUDER BATTLES WOMAN, IS ARRESTED

Mrs. Rachel Trisman, thirty-eight years old, of No. 6 Oswego street, South End, is recovering from injuries she received when she was beaten by a man who entered her home and attempted to rob her. The man, Mrs. Trisman said, crept up behind her as she was tucking her two-year-old child, Libbie, to sleep and threw a shawl over her head.

MISS WURTHMANN AND FAMILY

Miss Elizabeth Rosalie Wurthmann, with her parents, in their home at Jersey City, N. J., where they received news of the estate left Miss Wurthmann by Louis Lehmeyer.

New York, Nov. 27.—Elizabeth Wurthmann doesn't mind being laughed at. Not the least. Then the laughter comes from that puzzling person, Dame Fortune.

In other years Dame Fortune has smiled on Miss Wurthmann. But today in the unpretentious Jersey City home where the Wurthmanns live the walls are echoing to the full-throated laughter of that capricious individual, known in unreverent circles as Lady Luck.

Miss Wurthmann learned through the newspapers that Louis T. Lehmeyer, the hermit who died last Wednesday in the paupers' ward on Welfare Island, had left her $500,000 in a secret will. Her lawyer later confirmed the fact, and said the fortune might run to $700,000.

The news was overwhelming—so unexpected that it left Miss Wurthmann, her mother and her father a bit breathless and tongue-tied.

TERRIBLY LUCKY.

Miss Wurthmann is twenty-one and an only child. She is a school teacher in Public School 6, West New York, N. J. She is tall and blue-eyed, with ash-blond hair and red lips, and when she smiles a curious little dimple comes in her left cheek and she drops her eyes to the floor.

"I'm lucky—terribly lucky," she said. "But before I talk about myself I want to explain about Mr. Lehmeyer. He was ninety-six. He knew my grandparents in Germany when he was a very young man. And since my mother and father have been married he has visited us often.

"We knew that he had money, but we had no idea how much. He had never even whispered to us that he would leave me his fortune. It was an unfortunate thing that he was taken to Welfare Island. He collapsed in his home, and the man who found him called a policeman. While Mr. Lehmeyer was unconscious he was taken to the City Hospital."

DREAM HOUSE LOOMS.

The Lehemeyer legacy is not the first inheritance Miss Wurthmann has received. Some time ago a relative died and left her a tidy little fortune—enough to enable her to complete her education at the Montclaire Normal School, and to buy herself a sporty red roadster, which she drives expertly.

But that first fortune did not alter the circumstances of the family. Mr. Wurthmann continued at his job as bookkeeper in a Jersey City leather house. And they did not move from their rented home at No. 38 Reservoir street.

TWO GIRLS KIDNAPED KIN FEAR

Police of Many Cities Join in Combing Greater Boston

Two Somerville girls, eighteen and nineteen years old, missing since Sunday, are being sought by police throughout the metropolitan district.

Parents of the girls at first thought they had been kidnaped by their sweethearts and that they were held prisoners in a lonely Lexington camp.

This theory was abandoned when the boys were found at their homes by police and the parents of the missing girls and were able to establish perfect alibis. The boys had not seen the girls for more than a week.

LIVED NEAR TOGETHER.

The girls, Mary Sullivan, nineteen years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sullivan, No. 85 Glenn street, Somerville, and Lillian Tobin, eighteen years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tobin, No. 110 Pearl street, Somerville, left home Sunday evening with five cents between them to visit a married sister of the Tobin girl, and disappeared.

Lillian Tobin

Mary and Lillian are chums. Mary is employed as an auditor in the Old South Building. Lillian stays at home to help care for her seven younger brothers and sisters. They live about a block apart.

HAD 5 CENTS BETWEEN THEM.

"Neither of the girls was ever absent from home overnight," Mrs. Tobin told the American. "Both of them are fine girls, and it is not reasonable to believe that they would leave home of their own accord and not say anything about it. Lillian had only four cents when she left home and Mary only had a penny. They couldn't go far on that, even if they did want to run away."

TURKEYS AT 39 TO 45 CENTS NOW

Chain Stores Break the Market, and Birds Are Lowest in Years

The price of turkeys goes crashing downward today as dealer after dealer falls in line with the progressive merchants who started the avalanche. The Mohican Company, with four markets in Boston, South Boston, Roxbury and Waltham announce the receipt of an initial shipment of 5,000 from the Northwest, which they offer to the public for 39 cents a pound.

Arthur E. Dorr & Co., with six markets in Boston, Dorchester and Quincy, are offering birds for 40 cents. The John T. Connor Company is offering $75,000 prime, fresh killed, dry packed Kentucky turkeys, the sort you paid 70 cents a pound for last year, for 45 cents a pound, in its 425 stores.

BOUGHT UP A LOT.

W. R. Groom, superintendent for the Mohican Markets in greater Boston, said today his company is the biggest buyer of meats for retail in the country. Its chain of markets extends from Lewiston, Me., to Youngstown, Ohio. He said that he was buying in the Boston wholesale market and simply taking the company's usual small turnover profit. George Mellon, the buyer, jumped into the market on Sunday, when the wholesalers were expecting a "Blue Monday" on the following day, and bought all the birds he thought his company could dispose of.

CHEAPEST IN YEARS.

Not for many years have turkeys been so cheap. One has to dig through the records back to the prewar period to find turkeys quoted at anything like the price they are being offered for today. Even little corner meat markets, those that think they have done a big business if they turn over five to ten barrels of birds, are offering prime turkeys today for 50 cents a pound.

Exchange quotations on turkeys in the Boston wholesale market today are as follows: Northern and Eastern, choice, 45c; Western, choice young birds, dry packed in boxes, 38c to 40c; mediums 25c to 30c; Western, choice young dry packed in barrels, 35c to 38c; medium, 23 to 28 cents.

STEAMSHIP SINKS OFF SPANISH COAST

Tarragona, Spain, Nov. 27 (I.N.S.)—A wireless message today reported the sinking of the steamship La Guardia, but all on board were saved. At Ferrols, a radio distress signal was received from the Greek steamship Tesico.

Bandits Get $3,000

Cleveland, Nov. 27 (I.N.S.).—Three armed bandits today entered the John Olderman dry goods store here, compelled the proprietor to open the safe, seized $4,000 in cash, two diamond rings and a watch and escaped.

'Uncle Robert' Here to Urge His Parents' Day Plan

By WALTER B. FORD

"Uncle Robert" is in Boston.

Who is Uncle Robert? Don't all ask it at once.

His chief aim is making children—little children and grownup children—happy.

Sometimes he uses New York for an address. A letter from any kiddie addressed to him there will reach him. It doesn't need any street address. Uncle Robert is an institution.

OFFERS PRIZES.

Just now Uncle Robert has grasped hold of a big idea. It is the establishment as a national institution of Parents' Day. It will supplant Mothers' Day and the talked of Fathers' Day.

To that end he has asked the Boston American to help him in boosting for the day.

Uncle Robert offers two prizes—each a $5 gold piece—to the boy and girl of the Boston grammar schools who write the best essay favoring Parents' Day.

He wants every boy and girl below the high school grade to try for the prize—one to the boy, one to the girl, who can write the best essay telling why they favor Parents' Day instead of Mothers' Day or Fathers' Day.

The essays are to be mailed to Uncle Robert, care of the Boston American. They must not exceed 250 words. One hundred words is better. They must all be in by midnight of January 31, 1924. Results will be announced as soon as judged in the Boston American INDORSED BY COX.

Uncle Robert says:

"Father and mother are partners. Their children belong to both of them. Their hearts beat—or should beat—as one for their kiddies. Why shouldn't they be honored by those same kiddies as parents on one big day?

"The second Sunday in May—now observed as Mothers' Day—is the one advocated by Uncle Robert.

Uncle Robert called upon Governor Cox at the State House and asked him what he thought about Parents' Day.

"Great!" said the Governor. "You have my hearty endorsement."

Twenty-two other Governors have just as heartily endorsed Uncle Robert and his many works.

"Why must one wear a fifty-cent carnation to honor Mother?" he asks. "The florists themselves are lining up behind me. Let the gift be big or small as befits the kiddie's purse. Even a penny spent for Ma or Dad, right from the childish heart. Let every child give some tribute, no matter how small, on that day. Isn't that about all the honor a man or woman could ask for?"

UNCLE ROBERT AND BETTY

Betty is one of the many children all over the country who know and love this mysterious philanthropist. She is a New York girl who lost a leg through infantile paralysis but won Uncle Robert and now would give the other leg rather than lose him.

This is the first visit to the Hub by Uncle Robert. He has carried his all-the-year Santa Claus ideas out in other cities.

Today he is in Lowell bringing joy and presents to seventy-five kiddies of the Ayer Home in Pawtucket street and likewise to the 400 aged men and women of the Lowell Hospital farm in Chelmsford street.

On December 16 he is planning a big party for 1200 aged men at the Home on Rockwell's Island.

In New York he has three great clubs, one of boys and one of girls, and his Minstrel Club of Boys of Public School No. 169.

All over this big country are boys and girls — and grown-ups—who know and love Uncle Robert. One of them is "Little Betty" of New York. This little girl lost a leg from double infantile paralysis. She lost a leg but she won Uncle Robert and she would give the other leg rather than lose him.

And thus he goes up and down the land doing good and making others happy.

CARRIES LITTLE TAGS.

Who is Uncle Robert? You will probably never know. Uncle Robert—Uncle Robert. He is not seeking publicity. He is not seeking gain—except the gain of a joyous heart by giving joy to others. If you ask him who he is he won't tell you.

He carries little tags. They read "Be the fellow your mother thinks you are."

They are signed, "Uncle Robert."

"I don't want any fellow to wear one of these tags until he has asked himself if he has the right to wear it—after reading it," said Uncle Robert

HITS TEAM IN FRONT OF TRIBUNAL

Brighton Judge Gives Her a Caustic Lecture, Then Places Cases on File

An automobile owned and driven by Mrs. Helen Eldridge of No. 1662 Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, collided with a team in front of Brighton Courthouse, knocking the wagon loose from the horses and capitulating the driver, George McMurtry of Henshaw street, Brighton, to the ground.

Asked for her license by a squad of policemen who dashed from the courthouse, Mrs. Eldridge had a warm smile and a ready answer:

"Haven't got my license I'm on my way to court anyway," she said.

Before Judge Connelly it developed that Mrs. Eldridge rarely bothered to carry the important little slip of paper. She had been haled there to day on charges of no license and overspeeding, brought by Motorcycle Officer Barron.

She said she was only going 25 or 30 miles an hour and thought too much of her license to speed faster. She had the license she testified, but often forgot it. She also admitted paying a $2 fine in Municipal Court for parking too long downtown.

STINNES BACKS OIL PROJECT IN TEXAS

Berlin, Nov. 27.—It was learned from an authoritative source today that Hugo Stinnes had formed an oil company in New York, with $20,000,000 capital, to develop wells in Texas, Mexico and Russia in conjunction with Harry Sinclair, American oil operator.

German Socialists newspapers bitterly denounce Stinnes' "foreign investment."

They contrast these investments with Stinnes' policy in the Ruhr where he has been making wholesale dismissals on account of "lack of capital."

KLAN AIDS MAYOR IN MAINE ELECTION

Gardiner, Me., Nov. 27.—An election of a mayor and six aldermen, representing the six wards of the city, was held today. It was the first since the commission form of government was abolished. Mayor Bert E. Lamb, who has been chief executive since 1911, with the exception of two years, was opposed by Donald S. McNaughton. Mayor Lamb was said to have the support of the Ku Klux Klan, three of whose members, it was understood, were aldermanic candidates.

7 CUSTOMERS WHILE RAID WENT ON

While federal prohibition agents were searching the bakery shop of Samuel Popkin in Shawmut avenue, South End, seven persons, two of them women appeared and asked to be served with liquor at prices ranging from 50 cents to $1, Dry Agent Lordan testified today when Popkin was arraigned before Commissioner Hayes. Popkin was held in $500 bail for court.

DRY AGENTS TO "TREAT 'EM ROUGH"

In the future prohibition agents are going to treat 'em rough

"There has been too much chivalry round here in handling bootleggers and moonshiners," assistant United States Attorney William J. White, Jr., told United States Commissioner Hayes today. A case against Ruben Rubin of Malden was continued because no one could show that Rubin owned a 100-gallon still, 1,000 gallons of mash and twenty gallons of moonshine Federal officers found in his home in Bowdoin street, Malden.

When Arents Kelley, Peter Sullivan and half a dozen others raided the house they found Mrs. Alice Rubin. They left a summons for her husband.

"The agents spent two week working up a case and then failed to make a proper identification," Attorney White said when Attorney Kabatznick for Rubin, claimed no one had identified his client.

As a result Mrs. Rubin will be served with a warrant and in future agents will summons the persons they find on premises with liquor, irrespective of whether they are men or women.

LEITER REFUSES TO PAY FOR $12 SOCKS

Chicago, Nov. 27. — Most of us would be aware of the fact that we owned a $12 pair of socks or more than two pairs of any kind of socks, but Joseph Leiter, millionaire coal mine owner, store owner, real estate dealer and brother-in-law of Lord Curzon, Ind court contending that a bill for [illegible] $1,332, filed by Lewis Roe, Peck & Peck, haberdashers, said he did not know that he had 111 pairs, costing $12 each.

Joseph Leiter,

Before the annoying bill came in Mr. Leiter had worn twenty-eight pairs of the socks. He maintained, however, that they were not ordered nor wanted, and that he will not pay for them.

CHICAGO FLIER OFF TRACK; 2 INJURED

Chicago, Nov. 27. (I.N.S.)—Two railroad employes were seriously injured and more than a score of transcontinental travelers were shaken up when the Olympian crack flyer of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St Paul Railroad, crashed through an open switch into a string of slowly moving empty coaches here today.

One of the empty cars into which the speeding flyer crashed was hurled from the tracks against the supports of a twenty-foot signal tower which collapsed. The towerman, Paul Karmeres, was rescued from the burning wreckage

ANNIVERSARY MASS FOR MRS. BARRY

The fifth anniversary requiem mass for the repose of the soul of Beatrice Mara Barry, wife of former Lieutenant Governor Edward F. Barry was celebrated today at the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, Jamaica Plain. There was a large attendance of friends and relatives and also children from Our Lady of Lourdes Convent School and Notre Dame Academy at Roxbury.

Beats German Potash

New York, Nov. 27.—The United States is producing potash superior to that of other nations and at a cost much lower than during the war, according to the American Chemical Society today. As a result Germany's grip on the potash industry has been definitely broken.

SCOPOLAMINE, "TRUTH-TELLING" DRUG, WAS FOUND BY ACCIDENT

DISCOVERER SURPRISED BY RESULTS

Maternity Patient's Remark While Under the Influence Led to Final Success

New Orleans, Nov. 27 (C.N.S.)—Dr. E. House of Texas, discoverer of the drug scopolamin as the "truth serum," began a demonstration with the serum in Parish Prison today.

Members of the New Orleans Parish Medical Society, before whom he spoke regarding his experiments with the strange drug, predicted that if Dr. House's claims were substantiated he would be hailed as the discoverer of a humane "third degree" to be applied to prisoners.

Three newspaper men, one from each of the New Orleans dailies, submitted themselves to Scopolamin tests before the society. The reporters were instructed before the drug was injected to try to give a false answer to every question put to them.

Associates familiar with the activities of the men during the last few days, questioned them about hunting trips, their families and other features. In each case the replies were the truth, the subjects giving the answers immediately. The men at no time showed the slightest sign of consciousness.

"I want to make it clear that the administration of scopolamin does not make the patient tell the truth," Dr. House said before starting his experiments.

"It does, however, permit one to get information from the person to whom it is administered—information that is stamped on the mind of the subject as memory."

How Dr. House discovered the amazing workings of the drug was revealed today.

PATIENT SPEAKS UP.

"It began seven years ago," he said, "when I was attending a patient in Ellis County, Texas. I had been using scopolamin in a maternity case and my patient was apparently unconscious when her baby was born.

"Two women attending her asked for the family pair of scales to weigh the baby. The husband searched and couldn't find them.

"'I wonder where those scales are?' he said when he came back 'I can't find them.' And then the young mother spoke. 'They're in the kitchen on a nail behind the picture,' she said.

"I thought at first I had not administered scopolamin. But the next day when the patient was conscious I found she had not remembered either question or answer about the scales, though she had told accurately where they were.

FEARED RIDICULE

"It dawned on me what it might mean, if people could be asked and could answer questions under the influence of scopolamin and not remember what they had said.

"I want to work experimenting and kept my observation to myself. I knew what ridicule would mean. For five years I worked and experimented and recorded my observations. I tried questioning patients under scopolamin in three hundred cases before I presented my theory.

"On February 13, 1922, I made my first test on a criminal in the Dallas County Jail in Texas. After that, with the consent of the Texas authorities, I experimented in 31 criminal cases and obtained the release of twelve of them who had been charged with crime.

"The investigations of their statements made under the influence of scopolamin brought out the evidence that set them free.

"I don't know what you might call my batting average in experiments on criminals. There is no accurate check on my percentage of success or failure. But I do know that in seven private tests, in which the truthful answers to the questions to be asked, were known in advance, my average was 100 per cent.

ONE PER CENT. BETTER.

The best the government can do is 10 per cent. in its criminal trials. Of 100 men who go to trial, only 10 are convicted and three of them are usually innocent. So if the use of scopolamin in arriving at the truth in criminal trials is only 11 per cent. effective, it still would beat the present system of 3 per cent.

"Under scopolamin the patient hears and answers short questions. They must be short. In a long question the impression of the first part of the question seems to fade, and the patient seems to answer the last part only."

"Scopolamin is the product known as scopola from a plant. It comes from Europe. It was used first in 1904 to alleviate the pain of childbirth and with morphine was the basis of the so-called twilight sleep that was given such wide publicity.

"It was used in the control of highly nervous insane patients. It was the basis of the old Keeley cure for drug and alcoholic addicts.

"It operates to contract the synapses, what the layman would call the 'couplings' or the "connections' of the nervous system. That, so to speak, breaks the circuit. But I found in my experiments that the sense of hearing is the most powerful brain connection.

PLEADED VAINLY FOR DRUNKEN DRIVER

MRS. PERCY D. HAUGHTON

Football coach's wife, asked leniency of court for her drunken chauffeur, but he was fined $100.

$100 FINE FOR HAUGHTON'S CHAUFFEUR

Despite the appeal to the court of Mrs. Percy D. Haughton for leniency, her chauffeur, Dominick Reed of Chestnut street, Newton, arraigned in the Dedham Court before Judge Sanborn, charged with drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor was fined $100

Reed was arrested November 18, while operating on Harkness street, East Dedham, and while Judge Sanborn placed the first charge on file, Mrs. Haughton personally made a plea before the court. Reed was compelled to pay the fine on the second count.

GERMANS SEEK UNITED STATES PASSPORTS

Stuttgart, Germany, Nov. 27—Thirteen thousand Germans weekly are obtaining visas for the United States since it became known that the German quota for the fiscal year ending July 1 next will probably be exhausted this month

Germany's quota for the year is 67,000. In Germany alone 50,943 visas for the United States had been granted up to October 31 and 37,352 German had sailed for America, leaving only 29,648 vacancies.

After the quota is exhausted students will still be permitted to go to America if they can present the American consulates with satisfactory proof of their preparation for higher educational work and certify the United States authorities that they have sufficient funds to carry on their studies or have friends on the other side who will finance them.

4 HURT IN CRASH OF TROLLEYS

Springfield, Vt., Nov. 27.—Walter Pilet, fourteen years old, of this town, was badly hurt and three other persons sustained minor injuries in a collision between a trolley car and an electric freight locomotive between Springfield and Charlestown, N. H., today. The boy, who had been riding in the front vestibule of the car, was caught between the car and the locomotive. One leg was broken and he was badly cut and bruised

F. D. Cox of Albany, N. Y., Harold Stiles, conductor, and Lowell Comstock, a Charlestown boy, were cut by flying glass. Fred Wallace of Charlestown jumped into the Black River when he saw that a crash was inevitable.

ARGENTINE ANTS CHECK BOLL WEEVIL

Crystal Springs, Miss., Nov. 27.—A cotton boll weevil eradicator has been found in the Argentine ant, according to Mance Dees, a planter near here. He planted two patches of cotton on the same farm this season. One of them was in ground infested with the ants. That from the ground infested with ants contained 149 bolls of cotton matured to the top of the stalk, while the stalk from the other patch infested with the weevil, contained only cultivated squares and small, undeveloped bolls.

NEW CARDINALS MAY INCLUDE AMERICANS

Rome, Nov. 27.—At the Vatican there is complete silence concerning the names of the new Cardinals Pope Pius may appoint at the secret consistory to be held December 27. Even the nationality of those who may receive the red hat has not been made known.

If any new American cardinals are to be appointed, Archbishop Hayes of New York and Archbishop Mundelein of Chicago, are mentioned as the prelate most likely to be accorded the honor. If only one American cardinal is to be created, there are many persons who express the belief that it will be Archbishop Mundelein, because all the American cardinals in the past have been from the Eastern States and they think the time now has come for the appointment of a man from the West.

HANNA IN LINE.

Some persons in Vatican circles are of the opinion that the Far West ought to have its cardinal, and in this connection the name of Archbishop Hanna of San Francisco is being mentioned as the most probable candidate.

It is believed the Pope may appoint another South American cardinal especially after the suggestion made by the King of Spain to the Pontiff in his address when the latter received him several days ago. The Archbishop of Bahia is considered the prelate who most probably would receive the honor, as the Brazilian government for a long time has been urging him for the honor

NEW SPANISH CARDINAL.

It is considered likely that at least one new Spanish cardinal will be created, because four Spanish cardinal sees are vacant, namely, Valencia, Seville, Compostela, and Saragossa. King Alfonso also made reference to that fact when he addressed the Pontiff.

It does not seem likely that any English or Irish prelates will be created cardinals. Italians who, it is believed, may be honored with the red hat are Monsignor Sans De Samper, the Papal major domo; Monsignor Carlo Perosi, Assessor of the Holy Office, and Monsignor Zezza, Archbishop of Naples.

Another Italian likely to be honored will be the new Archbishop of Turin who has not yet been appointed.

In that connection it will be remembered the last Archbishop of Milan who is the present Pope, was created a Cardinal at a secret consistory before being made Archbishop of Milan, the latter appointment taking place at a public consistory a few days later.

SEES NO LIQUOR TASTE IN NEXT GENERATION

New York, Nov. 27.—With continuance of prohibition in the United States, the next generation, brought up in an environment of interdiction of alcoholic beverages both for their parents and themselves, will have no taste for such beverages, Dr. Paul Kammerer, Viennese scientist who claims to have proof that acquired characteristics can be inherited, declared today on his arrival in the Resolute.

"I believe," Dr. Kammerer declared, "That with continuance of the law in United States, the next generation will be without any desire for alcoholic beverages which the present generation is forced to dispense with."

Dr. Kammerer, who has been a Zoologist and Zoologist at the University of Vienna and a lecturer at Oxford and Cambridge Universities, said he would describe to scientists here how he had grown efficient eyes in once blind newts and how he affected the colorations of salamanders by keeping their parents under special environmental color conditions.

He declared he also would explain the rejuvenation methods of Dr. Eugen Steinach, of Vienna, with whom he collaborated.

FORD'S MAN WILLING TO TALK ABOUT HENRY'S ROAD

Washington, Nov. 27.—E. G. Liebold, vice-president of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton, Henry Ford's railroad, notified the Interstate Commerce Commission today that he was willing to appear before it next Tuesday to present his company's views on railroad consolidation. A hearing was set for that date.

The United States Marshal at Detroit had returned to the commission a subpoena for Mr. Liebold, marked "not found."

The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton is the only road in the country which has failed to put evidence asked for into the commission's record on consolidation.

ONE N. Y. THEATRE MAN MADE $400 A WEEK FEE ON TICKETS

New York, Nov. 28.—The high prices of theatre tickets on upper Broadway were explained in part by C. J. Lyons, treasurer of the Belasco Theatre, testifying today in his suit for recovery of profits in a syndicate. He stated that when the syndicate was formed he was making $10,000 to $12,000 a year.

"But you have sworn that your salary was $45 a week," protested the defence attorney.

"That is true," was the reply, but in addition, I was making as much as $400 a week in "brokerage fees" for tickets sold to ticket brokers. That is the custom."

What a wonderful beginning to a fine Thanksgiving dinner

Watch them disappear. The salty tang appeals to keen-edged appetites. And this firm, plump, meaty fruit makes all the other good things that follow taste just that much better.

It is this tantalizing flavor that has made green olives socially correct for such a feast as Thanksgiving. And green olives are good for you. They contain 1400 calories per pound—more than boiled eggs, fricasseed chicken or white bread.

TAX REFORMS AND BONUS SOUGHT BY MILITANTS IN CONGRESS

TENTATIVE PROGRAM PREPARED

Progressives Hold "Balance of Power" and Will Demand Many Changes

Washington, Nov. 27.—Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican leader of the Senate, discussed the problems of Senate and House organization today with President Coolidge. Mr. Lodge predicted that difficulties in organization of the Senate would be easily smoothed out, but described the House organization as a matter of "some uncertainty."

Washington, Nov. 27 (I.N.S.)—Out of a series of conferences that are practically continuous on both Senate and House sides of the Capitol there emerged today a tentative draft of legislative program which the militant little progressive group in the new Congress will endeavor to put through in the new session.

Foremost on the tentative program is a proposed change in the system of taxation with far-reaching benefits for wage earners and an almost complete revision of the Esch-Cummings act with a reduction in freight rates. The program will not assume final form until after Senator La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin, leader of the group, recovers from his present illness.

TENTATIVE PROGRAM

Other members, however, are meeting daily to discuss the proposed legislative program.

The tentative program includes:

Revision of the Esch-Cummins' act with probable restoration of rate fixing powers to the Interstate Commerce Commission and some action, tending to force a reduction in freight rates.

Revision of income tax laws by reducing taxes on small incomes and increasing the taxes on large incomes, increases on inheritance taxes and re-enactment of an excess profit tax.

A proffer of aid to the administration in enacting all satisfactory farm legislation with an effort to enact a wheat stabilization bill.

Enactment of legislation curbing the powers of Federal judges and providing that the United States Supreme Court can declare acts of Congress unconstitutional only by two-thirds vote.

BONUS AGAIN ON LIST.

Enactment of a constitutional amendment to start the terms of President and all members of Congress on January 1 following their elections instead of on March 4 as at present.

Enactment of a constitutional amendment abolishing the electorate college and providing for a direct vote for President.

Enactment of still other constitutional amendments, providing for the abolition of child labor and to prohibit the issuance of tax-free securities.

Enactment of a soldiers' bonus.

Enactment of legislation providing for a degree of governmental supervision and control over coal and oil industries.

The Progressives also are seeking some method of taxing stock dividends.

The group's taxing program without a doubt will meet with serious opposition.

FIGHT MELLON'S PLAN.

It is in direct conflict with the plan proposed by Secretary of Treasury Mellon and is certain to meet opposition from administration leaders. The Progressives, incidentally, will oppose Mellon's plan.

As the group is credited with holding the "balance of power" in both branches of Congress, the Progressives probably will be able to block off other legislation, even if unsuccessful in efforts to enact their own program.

HAINES LAUDS DRY AGENTS IN CHICAGO

Washington, Nov. 27.—Prohibition Commissioner Haines has written Mayor Dever of Chicago expressing gratification at the "splendid success of the Chicago campaign of prohibition law enforcement."

"I have no hesitancy in stating," he wrote, "that there has been no development or achievement in enforcement work that has had more effect, morally and psychologically, than what has occurred in the city of Chicago.

"It has been demonstrated that where local forces join with State and Federal forces in a conscientious, concerted movement, the Eighteenth Amendment is as possible of enforcement as any other measure."

UNDERGO HEALTH TESTS AT HUB BABY CONFERENCE

Scores of mothers and their babies from all parts of Greater Boston flocked to the Better Babies clinic which opened in the Municipal Building, West Brookline street and Shawmut avenue, South End, under the direction of the Boston Health Department, aided by the American.

Doctors, nurses, specialists and psychologists were kept busy for hours weighing and examing the children as they were carried through the "mill."

The entire ordeal was interesting enough to the mothers, nurses, physicians and spectators, but the babies themselves, the principals of the occasion, after a while began to be bored.

BABIES IN CRYING BEE.

When they went from psychology tests where amusement was provided by colored blocks to tables where they were measured, weighed and recorded, their interest began to lag.

Then, simultaneously, as if it had been prearranged, they yelled. Every mother's son, every mother's daughter, if volume means anything, had his or her say in the general uproar. The party began to grow informal after that until the examinations closed for the day.

The examinations continue today. Dr. Frederick J. Bailey supervised the proceedings. He was assisted by Dr. Edward Martin, Dr. Cyril Lyder, Dr. C. L. McGray, Dr. H. B. Chandler, Dr. H. B. Fink, Dr. Harry Moskow, Dr. Francis L. Rouch, Dr. Mayr Moore, Miss Elizabeth Amen and Miss Helen K. Mull of the Harvard Graduate School gave the psychology tests. Dr. Elmer Barron was the consulting specialist.

Among those examined were:

Edward M. Taber, No. 497 Blue Hill avenue; Louis Doucette, No. 35 Kane street, East Boston; Alice Katharine McQuade, No. 42 Austin street, Charlestown; Dorothy Buckley, No. 700 Huntington avenue; Robert Whelan, No. 9 Waterford street; William Herbert Alden, Jr., No. 1 Yarmouth road; Marian F. Those held are Joseph Brown, in jail in Minneapolis; Mrs. Alice Sweeney of Minneapolis, held in St. Louis, Mo., and her husband, Homer Sweeney, alleged whiskey runner, telephones, was ordered to leave

NEW FIRE CHIEF IN WEYMOUTH

Herman O. Colliver is the new fire chief of Weymouth, replacing James A. Carley, self-confessed burglar, whose official career came to an end during the past week.

Colliver was elected by the board of five engineers of the town fire department and has already taken over the office.

Carley, who was caught entering the store of H. F. Loud and later confessed to earlier burglaries will have his trial Friday.

NIGHT CAR ROUTES TO BE VOTED ON BY PATRONS

The trustees of the Boston Elevated have decided to allow passengers using the night cars to vote whether they prefer to have cars from Adams square on the street surface as was the custom for many years or have them leave from the Tremont street subway. A few weeks ago Adams square was abandoned as a terminus for the "owl" cars and since then they have been leaving from Scollay square station as a central point.

The ballot is to be taken any morning the latter part of this week. The conductors will furnish the passengers with ballots and after the vote is cast will collect same. There was a storm of protest from night workers when the change from Adams square to the subway was first put into effect and ever since there has been determined agitation for a return to the old system.

The vote will decide the question.

RADIO AMERICAN

LISTENERS MUST TUNE WITH CARE

Antenna Pointed Little North of East Will Aid Reception

Tonight at 10 o'clock Eastern standard time, six English broadcasting stations will attempt a second time to get a concert across the Atlantic to the American listeners.

This will be about 3 a. m. English time, which should make conditions ideal for trans-Atlantic broadcasts. English broadcast listeners have repeatedly heard American stations and the probable reason that English broadcasting is rarely heard on this side of the Atlantic is due to the fact that it is daylight this side of the water when the English stations are running.

Tuning in the English stations is largely a matter of care. Since the radio waves are traveling practically the entire distance over water, it should be easier than reception from a station the same distance off by land.

One of the factors for long-distance reception is the direction of the antenna. An inverted L antenna, which is the kind generally used, receives best from the direction of the free end.

This is the antenna which consists of a horizontal wire with a vertical, or nearly vertical, lead-in from one end.

Correct tuning is another important factor for success.

The English stations which are broadcasting during the tests run in wave length from 353 meters to 425 meters. In tuning for these stations it will be well to learn the usual settings for similar wavelengths.

Radio waves that travel a long distance have a tendency to broaden out slightly, so that the actual wavelength of the broadcasts when they are received in America is slightly larger than the wavelength at the station.

In any DX work it is generally advisable not to use radio-frequency amplification. Many times the tube noises of A. F. amplifiers blot out the faint signals.

Try Your Pet Station Wave for Helpful

THIS comparison of the wave length of the British stations broadcasting for the United States tonight at 10 p. m. will enable you to tune in for them with more assurance of reception. For example, you should get 2LO, London, at approximately the same adjustment as you get WGY, Schenectady.

Location.	Wavelength.	American station of similar wave.
2LO—London	370	WGY, Schenectady (380 meters)
5IT—Birmingham	423	WSB, Atlanta (429 meters)
2ZY—Manchester	385	WJAX, Cleveland (390 meters)
5NO—Newcastle	400	WOR, Newark (405 meters)
5SC—Glasgow	415	WDAF, Kansas City (411 meters)
5WA—Cardiff	353	WGI, or any 360-meter station

Petition to President

TO the Honorable Calvin Coolidge,
President of the United States:

We, the undersigned radio broadcast listeners, respectfully call your attention to the serious interference to radio reception which is caused by remediable factors. We petition you to take action to have this interference stopped.

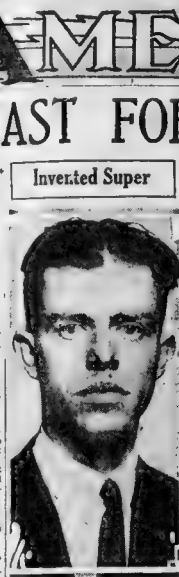
NEWARK TO RADIO TO FAR EAST

New York, Nov. 27.—Direct transmission of an American radio program to Japan will be undertaken by Station WOR in Newark, N. J., beginning Saturday morning, it was announced today. Programs will be sent out between 4 and 6 o'clock in the morning so the radio fans of Nippon may have their radio entertainment just before bedtime.

Sending of a program 6,000 miles by direct air waves will break all records, officials of WOR assert, as the recent trans-Atlantic broadcasting to London was only for a distance of about 3,000 miles. Australia and New Zealand also will share the program, it was said. The programs will be broadcast daily for fifteen days.

Inverted Super



MINOT A. SIMMONS

INVENTOR TO DESCRIBE SUPER

Minot A. Simmons, of No. 2093 Center street West Roxbury, inventor of the American's superneutradyne circuit, has prepared a series of articles especially for this paper on the construction and operation of the remarkable receiver.

These articles will contain further and more explicit instructions on building the sets and making the DX records that other owners of superneutradynes have made. They will also include a variety of possible variations in the hook-up, together with several refinements for those who like the very best in radio.

BEGINS TOMORROW

He will also indicate the various makes of parts that have been tried in experimental sets and shown to be satisfactory. The list will include the average retail prices of the different apparatus.

These articles will begin tomorrow.

Mr. Simmons has been developing the circuit since early last Summer, when he made the key discovery that led finally to the development of the completed circuit.

He was working on a Hazeltine neutrodyne circuit, which, like some of them, absolutely refused to neutralize. Finally, he dropped the antenna wire on one end of the primary of the second neutroformer and the ground on the other end.

RUSHED WITH ORDERS.

When he tuned in, the stations came rolling in without a sign of any distortion or squealing. Somehow the circuit was either neutralized, or else the oscillations were prevented in some other way.

This was the key discovery that finally worked out into the superneutradyne circuit as it has been given to Boston American readers.

Simmons recently has been rushed with orders for the special radio-frequency couplers which are used in the circuit. He has, however, continued experimental work on the circuit, and his discoveries will be given exclusively to Boston American readers.

Radio Queries

TURNS ON SECONDARY

Radio Editor:

What is the correct number of turns for the secondary of the radio-frequency coupler in the superneutradyne. Is it sixty or sixty-five turns?

G. F. G.

The number of turns on the secondary is not critical, but sixty-five turns would perhaps give a shade better signals than sixty.

NO NEUTRADONS

Radio Editor:

I notice that the hookup of the superneutradyne is not drawn showing neutralizing capacities connected between the grid and the following transformer. I have a hookup showing these connections and wondered if your diagram should have shown it. Can two stages of R. F. be used with your hookup, making five tubes. Also could more than two stages be used if I desired two.

R. N. S.

There are no neutralizing capacities in the American's superneutrodyne. We do not recommend the use of more radio-frequency with this set, as it is very likely to throw off the neutralizing balance. More stages of audio-frequency may be added, however.

SET IS SELECTIVE

Radio Editor:

I have decided to build a superneutradyne, but would like a few particulars first. The main guess is, will the superneutradyne cut out local broadcasting stations, and pick up long distance station as the neutrodyne does. I note that in one place you mention that both coils are wound with the same wire, and in another you say that one is wound with No. 22 single silk covered and the other with double silk covered wire.

HERE'S A SNUG LITTLE RADIO FOR $2 000

A map of the United States wrought in sterling silver forms the top of this set, which was exhibited at the Chicago radio show. The rest of the set is elaborately filagreed in gold and silver. The completed set sells for the modest sum of $2,000. It is being shown by Miss Purcell (Irene) of the Rainy Day company.

W. L. K.

An actual supernEutradyne operated within a half a mile of WGI, Medford, brought in DX stations of nearly the same wave length and tuned out Medford when desired. Both primary and secondary should be wound with single silk covered wire, although the double covered wire can be used.

UV201A TUBES

Radio Editor:

What tubes should be used with the supernEutradyne?

J. N. G.

UV201 A tubes should be used throughout, or a UV200 in the detector socket and 201A in the others. Other tubes cannot be used in this circuit, as at present designed.

Clean Tube Prongs

The prongs on the bottom of a vacuum tube should be cleaned off once in a while with the aid of a fine piece of emery cloth.

NEW DX RECORD ON SHORT WAVE

Hartford, Ct., Nov. 27.—The greatest distance ever covered by amateur radio on a wave length of 100 meters was reported at American Radio Relay League headquarters. Signals of the French amateur station, 8AB, operated by Leon Deloy, were copied for an hour on this wave length by F. H. Schnell, traffic manager of the A. R. R. L., listening at his station, 1MO, here.

Amateurs have transmitted short distances on 100 meters, but it has never been done across the Atlantic.

Simple Grid Leak

A very satisfactory home-made grid leak may be made by scraping off the wax between the terminals of a Dubilier micadon condenser and filling this pace with a light coat of India ink. The resistance of a grid leak of this type may be varied by applying a thicker coat of ink or by scraping off the ink. The grid leak has the correct resistance when the tube goes into an oscillating state with a hiss rather than with a whistle or squeal.

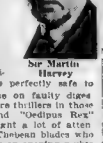
'OEDIPUS REX' THRILLER OF ANCIENT DAYS

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

THE restless ancient of twenty five centuries ago who craved red hot, pitiless drama was not rebuffed by the local inmates. That much was made clear at the Boston Opera House last evening, and if you didn't manage to draw a real thrill from Sir John Martin-Harvey's presentation of Sophocles, "Oedipus Rex" it is perfectly safe to place the blame on faulty digestion. There were thrillers in these olden days and "Oedipus Rex" must have caught a lot of attention from the Theban bludes who wore tin shields on opening nights instead of boiled shirts.



Sir Martin Harvey

ARTISTIC TREAT.

If this was true when Sophocles turned in his favorite manuscript it was made doubly true and impressive last night, for Sir John gave Boston playgoers an evening with the famous that was not only an artistic treat, but a performance quite unlike anything ever before ventured upon the local stage. Those who have accustomed themselves to dramatic fare made up of modern melodrama, mystery plays and chilling shockers, discovered in "Oedipus Rex" a play that outstepped the best thriller of the last three seasons.

And it is drama as Sophocles wrote it, though possibly mildly tempered in the translation of Professor Gilbert Murray. In any event it proved itself strong enough last night to grip and hold you to the finish—in a performance that had no intermissions from the time you entered the theatre until Sir John was called back at the finish and ordered to acknowledge the spontaneous tribute of a thoroughly agitated audience.

GRIPPING STORY.

Nothing more impressive has been brought to our stage for seasons—if ever. The novelty of the production, with action ranging from the auditorium to the stage, the scenic magnitude of the single set, and the gripping, heartbreaking story of Oedipus, swept the audience into the full spirit of Sir John's remarkable performance. An unusual performance it was—made colorful and delightful by Sir John's splendid support, with his engaging portrayal of the pitiful Oedipus. There was an added pleasure in listening to a cast whose diction carried every spoken word into the furthest corner of the house. Our own players do not always consider their audiences in this kindly spirit.

It was also something of a treat to find subordinate players carrying their artistic burdens with grace and distinction, as was noticed in Miss Miriam Lewes, Gordon McLeod, Fred Grove and Harvey Braban.

There is no need to tremble in fear or doubt when threatened with the classical. Therefore, if you can have Sir John Martin-Harvey and "Oedipus Rex" to raise your hair and compel your admiration.

JUVENILE FILM STAR

Baby Peggy, the juvenile star of the silver screen, on a visit to New York, tried out the radio as one of the novel experiences in the metropolis. "Oh! I can hear Los Angeles, mamma," she exclaimed as familiar sounds came to her ears.

HAROLD LLOYD IN NEW FILM AT FENWAY

Harold Lloyd smashes up a Revolutionary American revolution as easily as he shinnies a sky-scraper, and creates just as much fun doing it. "Why Worry?" at the Fenway is his first long photoplay, and with a thread of a plot, a heroine and love interest in addition to the usual uphoarious Lloyd comedy, the picture is a headliner.

With his big friend, John Aasen an elephant of a man, weighing 600 pounds, according to advance notices, and towering nearly nine feet toward the sky, Harold is able to lick to beat the rebels can offer. John's feats of prowess are a scream.

Johnna Ralston is his leading lady. The story is of a youth much keen to imaginary ills, an inveterate hypochondriac, who faces real danger however, with fists primed for action. He finally swears off the medicine. Leo White, James Mason and Wallace Howe are also in the cast.

Will Rogers appears in a picture called "Newspaper Movies," and the Fenway orchestra, the organ, a vocal number and a "dance fantasy" complete an attractive program. Lloyd and Castillo is the organ. The vocal selections are by Wood, Seegar and Silva; the dance number by Miss Lillian Powell.

"ALL ABOARD" AT GAYETY THEATRE

Snappy entertainment, reflecting the best in Columbia burlesque, being presented at the Gayety Theatre, where "All Aboard" opened local engagement yesterday. The Senna-Fortune act, "The French Palace Revue," and "Shorty" Medcalfe, last seen with Happy Holster, are among others who contribute to the entertainment.

"Bob" Bennett as this Frisco System operators are an added feature of "All Aboard" for this week.

'VANITIES" TAKES STAGE AT CASINO

"Vanities," a conglomeration of song, dancing, fun and spectacular scenery was the burlesque portion of the bill at the continuous performance program given yesterday at Waldron's Casino. The burlesque is one of Barney Gerard's productions and it vies in splendor with "Follies of the Day" and other creations which this producer has brought to Boston. In addition to the burlesque the program included vaudeville and two feature photoplays. "The Dun" with Buck Jones in the star role, and "The Barrier," a powerful screen romance.

Heading the company presenting "Vanities" were four well known burlesque players. Joe Marks, famed as a silly, Elsa May, prima donna; Ida Earle, comedienne and Jerry Sexton, a diminutive fun-maker who makes up in ability his lack of stature. Pardine is background for these principals and an ensemble of grand chorus beauties.

CROSSES OCEAN TO FIND FIANCE HAS A WIFE

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Disillusioned—finding another woman in the home she traveled more than 3,000 miles to a strange land and people for—pretty 18-year-old Fernley Isaette, of Frezone France, today started on her long and lonesome journey.

And Henry Duchesne, the man who she came to see, swears it is not his fault that the pretty little French girl [illegible] fruitless journey.

"I feel no anger toward the woman who is his wife she said quietly before she left today. "It is not her fault. She did not know that he had given me his word.

"Henry did not know either, that my father had made quite a lot of money since he was in France just after the war. He did not think it would ever be possible for the poor little girl he taught to love to travel so far to see him out and ask him to keep his promise."

According to the girl's story, Duchesne had met her in Paris, where she had been working. Then she was only sixteen. She said that the American, a boss laborer, had made ardent love to her, and had promised her that "when she grew up" he would make a home for her in America.

Duchesne did provide the little home, did provide the furniture, did provide the dainty drapings, but it was another woman's hand he arranged them, another woman who enjoyed them.

HALTS MISSOURI BAN ON FIRE INSURANCE

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 27.—An injunction against Ben C. Hyde, insurance superintendent of Missouri to prevent him from suspending Missouri licenses of twenty five fire insurance companies of Massachusetts pending when they expire the first of the year, was granted in the Cole County Circuit Court here by Judge David H. Harris of Fulton.

The notices explained that the licenses would be suspended under the retaliatory insurance law of this State, because permission to do business in Massachusetts had been denied the Kansas City reciprocal, in behalf of exchange of Kansas City by the insurance commissioner of Massachusetts.

MALONE AND WARD TONIGHT

Jack Malone and George Ward tonight at the Arena is the best bout staged in Boston in years. Both are favorites in the Hub and a whale of a scrap is promised by both.

RING KINGS IN BITTER BATTLE

By JACK CONWAY.

George Ward, rated as a second Stanley Ketchel, against Jock Malone, sensational St. Paul middleweight!

This ring classic will be staged by the Suffolk A. A. at its big show at the Boston Arena tonight. It is the most important boxing contest to be held in this city this year. It will end the fistic season at the Arena in a blaze of glory.

Ward and Malone are both on the scene of the conflict. Each reports he is in the best possible physical condition and prepared to battle at a dizzy clip from the time the bell sounds at the opening of the first round.

BOSTON AMERICAN WINS FIGHT FOR POPULAR PRICES

There will be a tremendous crowd on hand to witness the contest. It is expected that the Arena will be jammed to capacity. This is natural, as it is seldom that ring kings like Ward and Malone appear in a bout of national interest in a Boston ring.

The Boston American's victorious fight against grand opera prices at big ring shows has also added interest to tonight's battle. The Suffolk Club has informed this writer that it approves of the Boston American's fight for popular prices at ring shows and that there will not be any increase in the prices for this evening's bouts despite the fact Ward and Malone are receiving the largest guarantees ever paid to boxers in this city.

Opinion is divided as to the probable winner of tonight's contest. As many fans pick Malone as there are who figure that Ward's terrific left hooks will gain for him the victory.

Malone has been in Boston since Sunday. He engaged in two strenuous workouts at Kelly & Hayes' gym. He proved he's in better form than ever and prepared to put up a stirring battle.

"I'll win," was the confident statement of Malone today. "I have worked harder for this match than for any in which I have ever engaged. I realize it is the turning point of my career. If I win from Ward, I will be in a position to demand a match with Harry Greb for the world's title.

JOCK SAYS HE WILL TAKE CONCEIT OUT OF WARD.

"I'll take the sneak punch out of Ward, also some of the conceit he has shown since he scored twin victories over Mickey Walker and Eddie Shevlin. I'll admit Ward is a classy fighter, but he can't step with me.

"I've never lost a bout in Boston and I don't intend to have my record shattered. I've walloped Mickey Walker, Lou Bogash, Pal Reed, Johnny Griffith and Panama Joe Gans in tunnies in this city and figure I'm good enough to win over Ward. Of course, I know he's improving with each start, but I'll nevertheless clash out in front and grab the honors. I will strive for a knockout, as a kayo win would eliminate all doubt about the fact that I am Ward's master."

Ward is just as sure he will win. "Malone talks easily and thinks he is a better fighter than he really is," Ward told this writer. "Jock has won all of his Boston starts, but that's due to the fact he has never met a boxer as fast as myself, also one who can hit as hard. Naturally, he has been able to outpoint the slow opponents he has met here.

"He will find I'm about three times as fast as Mickey Walker or Lou Bogash. He won't be able to keep out of the way of my left hooks, while I believe I shall be able to crash many right hand smashes to my rival's jaw."

WINNER WILL PROBABLY CLASH WITH WILSON.

The winner of this bout will probably be signed to meet Johnny Wilson in this city. The victor of a match with Wilson one of the principals would be the logical opponent for Harry Greb.

Bob Sage, Detroit middleweight, will have Jack McClellan of Somerville as an opponent in the semi final of ten rounds. Sage has defeated Bryan Downey, while he also gave Malone a bitter battle. He is a sawyer and one of the most intelligent young men connected with the boxing game. He is managed by Nate Lewis and Tommy Walsh, who figure he is one of the leading middleweight contenders. They consented to let him show in a semi-final merely to introduce him to Boston and New England fans.

STRIBLING WINS AGAINST JOE EAGAN

By JACK CONWAY

Young Stribling, eighteen-year-old Macon, Ga., light-heavyweight, won over Joe Eagan of Dorchester after ten rounds of fighting at the Arena A. C.'s show at the Boston Arena, but it is still a mystery how the youthful Southerner held Mike McTigue to a draw.

Stribling carried each of the ten rounds, but he didn't show much more than a heavy sock and a willingness to fight. He is very crude at the fine points of the fistic game and permitted the veteran Eagan to tie him up in the clinches repeatedly.

Eagan would lock both of Stribling's arms when at close quarters and created the impression that his opponent was the one who was doing the Strangler Lewis stuff.

WAS A SLOW AND UNINTERESTING BOUT.

It was a slow, uninteresting bout to watch and the crowd hissed and booed the boxers during the closing rounds of the contest.

A high grade ring artist like Jock Malone, Johnny Wilson, Pat McCarthy or George Ward wouldn't have had the least difficulty in winning over Stribling.

Eagan has been knocked out by Jock Malone, Jack Britton, Eddie Murphy, Johnny Gallant, Gilbert Gilbert and many others, but at times made Stribling look bad. If Joe had battled with more vim he could have won over the youth from Dixie.

STRIBLING MAY DEVELOP INTO A HEAD LINER.

Stribling, of course, is still a youngster in the boxing game and with careful schooling may develop into a headliner. Pa Stribling, who manages his famous son, frankly admits that the boy is an unpolished ring diamond, and that he intends to take him along slowly before pitting him against tough opposition.

The fact Pa Stribling refused a 15,000 guarantee to have his illustrious son clash with Pat McCarthy and accepted the Eagan match for a $2,000 guarantee indicates that the Southerner a manager does not intend to ruin the chances of the Macon youth for more money.

Stribling is able to punch hard with either hand. He also does some heavy socking when at close quarters. His inexperience, however, enables a veteran like Eagan to make him look ridiculous at close quarters.

Stribling set a fast pace in the opening round. Eagan started boxing in lively style, but he lost a great deal of his ambition after the young youth had landed with a few heavy socks to the body. Joe then went on the defensive, and other than a few flashes, he gave his opponent plenty of leeway.

BOTH BOXERS TIRED AFTER THE FIFTH.

After the fifth round, both boxers tired, with the result that there wasn't much action in the closing rounds.

The crowd fell way below expectations. This was due to the tremendous interest in the bout between Jock Malone and George Ward, which will be staged tonight, and also to the poor showing that Stribling made in his gym workouts here.

Jack Conway Picks Malone and Sage to Win Tonight

"Ward against Malone! This is the ring classic of the year, a battle between the master boxers of the fistic game. Ward, a second Ketchel; Malone, as skilfull as George Dixon was at his best, should furnish a sensational battle.

"Roxbury will root for Malone, most of the other fans for Ward. Toss a coin and then decide who you will pick.

"We are picking Malone. We haven't got a world of confidence in our own selection, as Ward's deadly left hooks may knock the dope to pieces inside of five rounds.

"Bob Sage should defeat Jack McLellan."

The Boston American's expert picked Stribling to defeat Eagan when the so-called "wise" boys were handing out tips on Dorchester Joseph.

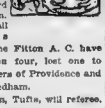
Semi-Pro Title at Stake in Holiday Contest

Everything is in readiness for the annual game which will determine the mythical semi-pro championship of New England when the Fitton A. C. of East Boston and the Pere Marquette K. C. of South Boston meet at Fenway Park, Thanksgiving afternoon at 2 o'clock.



The Pere Marquette team has the better record for the season. They won all nine games played while the Fitton A. C. have played six, won four, lost one to the Steam Rollers of Providence and were tied to Dedham.

Dr. J. O'Brien, Tufts, will referee, and Charles J. McCarthy, Georgetown, will umpire; Robert Guild, Harvard, will be head-linesman.

The Pere Marquette rooters will have St. Augustine Fife and Drum Corps, and the Fittons followers have procured the Immaculate conception Cadets Band of Everett.

The game will be played rain or shine.

EAGLE WILL HAVE BEST TEAM FOR PURPLE

An entire squad faced Coach Cavanaugh the first day of the Eagle's last week of practice before the big scrap with Holy Cross. All the injured, with the exception of Tom O'Brien, who was put out of the running against Vermont, will be in perfect condition to face the Purple.

The student body at University Heights is enthusiastic and is anxious to have the team conquer the "Cross" by a score even better than last year's.

Holy Cross, with no powerful opposition on its 1923 schedule, will meet its first real battle Saturday. On the other hand, B. C. has met Marquette and Centenary, two stiffest opponents, and proved its power.

The Purple minions fear Cavanaugh's psychology even more than they do Captain Darling, and that's a lot, according to Worcester. Time after time the headwork of Cavanaugh on the bench has instilled new vigor in the wearers of the Maroon and turned an enemy lead into a Boston victory.

Joe McKenney

When the B. C. squad repairs to some country club for the Thanksgiving dinner, a lot of football knowledge will be spilled across the board. Blackboard talks, to which Clav hardly ever resorts, will take the place of active scrimmage, and the last touches will be given to the Eagle machine which will roll out against the Purple a few hours later.

Of McKenney little need be said. Although one of the youngest of college quarterbacks, he is one of the brainiest, and his performance promises to cap a successful season.

McNamara, the second string quarter, is also bound to put in appearance again the Worcester clan.

Larkin has been out a couple of weeks with a bad leg, but from all indications will be in shape. So will Jack Cronin, who bids fair to outrival his brother, in football skill. Hassan is another likely prospect for appearance in the latter game, as his only game this season was the Villanova fray.

Pete Smith

Others, who have stuck out the battle all Fall, will also be given a chance to earn their coveted letter, particularly the few seniors who have not seen action.

Chief among them is Frank Bransfield, a centre, who has been coming out to practice every night in that hope.

The freshmen, of whom there are an abundant number on the squad, promise to be an active factor in the tussle. Jack Cronin, Joe McKenney, Jack McNamara, Tom O'Brien, Dan Linehan, and Phil Larkin have proved their salt in the battles this year. All probably will have another chance to shine against the Purple this week.

HAVERHILL TOO POWERFUL FOR LEWISTON

Haverhill, Nov. 27.—Haverhill had an easy time of it and defeated Lewiston, 40 to 6. The game was one of the most one-sided that has been played at the Stadium this year.

Lewiston appeared helpless on the smashes directed at their tackles by the Haverhill backfield. Time after time Haverhill ripped through the Maine line as if it were paper. Four touchdowns were made by the Haverhill backs after they had torn through the tackles of the Lewiston eleven and dodged the defensive backs.

Hook made his touchdown in that manner and ran 36 yards through the entire Lewiston team.

Robbins, the right end, was the star for Lewiston. His savage tackling of the Haverhill ball carriers prevented more scores or long runs. He was one of the best ends that has played against Haverhill this year.

Golf at Pinehurst

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 27.—H. W. Norris, Rye Beach, scored 83—18—80; W. B. Merrill, Brookline, 104—23—81, and J. O. Nicholson New Bedford, 96—18—78, in the Tin Whistles tournament, but failed to figure when prizes were distributed.

DARTMOUTH AND HOLY CROSS ON HARVARD'S SCHEDULE

VIRGINIA TO OPEN 1924 SEASON

Harvard's varsity football schedule for 1924, subject to confirmation by the committee on athletics, which is practically certain, is essentially like that followed this Fall at Cambridge.

The practice of starting the season a week after college opens has been adopted.

Two new opponents will be seen at the Stadium next Fall, one on the opening date, where Virginia takes the place of Rhode Island State, and the other on November 1, which is still unsettled, although Tufts, the team that held this place this Fall, has definitely announced that it will not play on this date.

Graduate Treasurer Moore says that the advisory committee does not desire a heavy game on that day.

Virginia, although a newcomer next Fall, is an old-timer in the Stadium. "Greasy" Neale, a National League ball player, was the head coach this Fall and will return next year. He formerly coached at Marietta College and at Washington and Jefferson.

The Dartmouth game, according to the Athletic Association, has been arranged for next Fall with the understanding, thoroughly satisfactory to both colleges, that neither college shall consider it a fixture.

The date is one that both institutions wish to keep free for the future, if in any year it may seem desirable to either to take on some other big game, whether intersectional or not.

Oct. 4—University of Virginia.
Oct. 11—Middlebury.
Oct. 18—Holy Cross.
Oct. 25—Dartmouth.
Nov. 1—Undecided.
Nov. 8—Princeton.
Nov. 15—Brown.
Nov. 22—Yale, at New Haven.

TOMMY NEE A WINNER OVER JOHN SHEPPARD

At the Casino A. C., Lynn, Tommy Nee of South Boston won from Johnny Sheppard of Woburn in ten rounds.

Harry Brown of Peabody stopped Johnny Troy of Boston in two rounds; Young Ross won from Young Wolgast in six rounds, and Billy Nelson of Lawrence defeated Young O'Brien of Lawrence in eight rounds.

JOHNNY BROWN GETS RING TITLE

London, Nov. 27.—Johnny Brown of London won the Lonsdale belt and the bantamweight championship of Europe when he defeated "Bulger" Lake on points in a 20-round contest.

Lake won the championship from Charles Ledoux, the French boxer, on July 30.

DARTMOUTH OFF FOR COLUMBIA CONTEST

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 27.—A huge pile of firewood with a football dummy propped up between timbers that blazed between the goal posts at the south end of Memorial Field, brought the Dartmouth home football season to a close. Captain Aschenbach gave a few words of thanks to the assembled college body for the help that it had extended to the team through the season, and pledged a fighting aggregation, to the last, in the game with Columbia Thanksgiving Day in New York.

Coach Hawley

Coach Hawley gave the varsity a long signal drill and worked the men well into the dusk before he called a halt. Limbering up exercises today for the men on the trip will mark the last appearance of Hawley in Hanover until the 1924 season opens.

The Green's chances against Haughton's eleven took a slight slump when Trainer Watson announced that Art Smith, first substitute left guard, was sick in the hospital with chickenpox and would not be able to accompany the team. All the other players are in first class condition, and ready to close the year in better shape than they have been in the other games.

Hagenbuckle, who alternated with Watkins and Maloney at right end, is almost sure to start with Bjorkman, as wingmen Thursday. Hatch and Ohrlander will carry the tackling assignments. Diehl and Aschenbach will fill in at the guard berths, with Ellis at centre.

CALLS SCHIKAT A CLASSY MAT PERFORMER

Richard Schikat, the all-European wrestling champion, who will meet Dr. Feodor Stekje in one of the numbers of the international carnival in Mechanics Building on Thursday night, is regarded as the classiest performer ever imported to this country.

So good is he, in fact, that he has been selected to meet Joe Steckler, the "scissors king," in New York later on. That gives an idea of his rating.

Wladek Zbyszk

Hans Steinke, the giant German, who will meet Wladek Zbyszko in the main event, looks and acts the part of a wrestler, in spite of his great size. For a giant, he moves with the speed of a lightweight, and his aggressiveness is banked on to give the Pole either a dumping or the battle of his life. The match looks like a hummer.

Reggie Siki, the first colored heavyweight to attain prominence in mat circles in years, is in prime fettle for his clash with Gardini in the semi-final. Their great match last Spring was limited, to the Abyssinian's regret, but on Thursday night they will go to a finish, a fact that tickles Siki immensely.

BOGASH ILL AND SO REED BATTLE IS OFF

Louis Bogash of Bridgeport was rushed to the hospital yesterday and the scheduled bout between Pal Reed and Bogash for Friday night is all off for the present.

It is feared that Bogash is suffering from diphtheria. This will not be known until today. Bogash's throat has been bothering him for several days and when a physician examined him yesterday he ordered his immediate removal to the hospital.

Matchmaker McKirdy was unable to secure a suitable opponent on such a short notice, and has been compelled to call off the show.

PRINCETON HAS LEHIGH AND AMHERST

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 27.—Amherst and Lehigh are on the Princeton football schedule for 1924. Amherst, after a lapse of football relations of 16 years, will displace Johns Hopkins in the opening game, while Lehigh, another old rival, will appear in the second contest in place of Georgetown.

Of the five remaining games, only one change appears. The Navy game will precede the Notre Dame contest, instead of following it. Swarthmore again appears just before the "Big Three" contests.

The list follows:
Oct. 4, Amherst.
Oct. 11, Lehigh.
Oct. 18, Navy.
Oct. 25, Notre Dame.
Nov. 1, Swarthmore.
Nov. 8, Harvard at Cambridge.
Nov. 15, Yale.

HARVARD'S HOCKEY CANDIDATES REPORT

Candidates for the Harvard hockey team, assembled at the Harvard Union, heard speeches by Alfred Winsor, the coach; Dr. Dorrie Parmenter, Captain Ted Crosby and Manager Brooks Potter.

Two of the best schoolboy punters in the State will be seen in action by Waltham fans and loyal rooters of Boston College High when these scholastic teams take the field at the Watch City for their annual Thanksgiving Day game.

Coach Heaphy

Jack Fitzgerald, halfback of the Eagles, will represent the Maroon and Gold, while the Watch City eleven has Walter Tracey to put on display.

The Waltham line has been the mainstay of the team. They have proven themselves the equal of any schoolboy line both on offence and defence.

According to reports from the Maroon and Gold camp, "Bo" McMenimen is going on high and should prove a valuable player to his team.

Every member of the Waltham first team, with the exception of Reed, will be in the game. Reed was injured in the Waltham-Newton game and is through for the season.

In his place Mitchell will play. He is not so formidable, but has shown talent.

SOPHS LEAD IN INTER-CLASS TRACK

The Sophomore class track team, with one point, leads the Juniors in the annual Boston College interclass Meet held at Alumni Field. The winner will be decided this afternoon, when the rest of the field events will take place. The scores stands: 1926, 28; 1925, 27; 1924, 27; 1927, 14.

The thrill was in the half mile run, when Art Kirley of Junior just nosed out Tom Cavanaugh and Louis Welch at the worsted.

Lesmond, the long-distance flash, ran away with the two mile run and finished more than a full lap ahead of the field. His time, 10:11, was the record of the B. C. cinder track. Considering the soggy condition of the course, this was a notable performance.

"Fluff" Fishive took first in both the discus and the javelin and is expected to take the high jump today. Before he injured his leg, Fishive was good for a height of 6 feet 3 inches in the high jump, and even in his limping condition will bear close watching during the coming indoor season.

FOR MEN—A Special and Unusual
Sale of High-Class Clothes
SUITS AND OVERCOATS
—In Every Wanted 1923-24 Models, Fabrics and Shades

IT is unusual at this season for any retail clothing store of the better class to offer high grade clothing at sale prices—but this is a special case—we have made a large purchase of the very best type of young men's clothes from one of the best makers in America, a New York manufacturer who is known throughout the United States for the high character of his products.

THE general let-down in the retail clothing business of the better grade throughout the country during the past six months has left this maker with an excess of stock that had to be turned into cash at once. We have taken thousands of dollars' worth of this stock at a price that permits us to sell it to our customers at less than the cost of making. We invite the public and our regular patrons to attend this sale and secure the greatest values ever given in high class clothing.

THIS GARMENT IS MADE OF CLOTH BEARING THE FOLLOWING TRADE MARK
SCOTTISH WOOLLEN REG.

895 of the highest grade Men's and Young Men's Overcoats in the United States, finely tailored in the very best Scotch, Irish, and other high class imported overcoatings.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

One quality possessed, I have found, by most of our men of achievement, is one rarely noted, resourcefulness. The man who has the right stuff in him thinks up some way of overcoming obstacles which arise. The man of mediocre ability usually is stumped.

And, after all, our success or our failure is largely determined by our ability, or inability, to meet daily difficulties, for brushing aside obstacles, for finding workable and profitable solutions to problems.

Herbert Fleischacker, now the most prominent banker on the Pacific Coast, was unable to put through a deal with Edwin Hawley, the railway operator, who at one time was talked of as a possible rival to Harriman. After sessions lasting almost a week, there was $100,000 dividing Fleischacker and Hawley would not give in. Neither would Herbert Fleischacker. Although seemingly seemed hopeless Fleischacker, however, was eager to consummate the deal.

He had noticed that Hawley always wore a magnificent five-caret ruby stickpin. He deduced that the railway magnate was very proud of his unique piece of jewelry. Just as the tension was reaching the breaking point, Fleischacker thumped the table, and said: "Mr. Hawley, I'm going to make you one more, final proposition. You can either reject or accept it. If you don't want to accept, I'm going home. It is this: My wife is very fond of jewelry. If you will go out and match that pin of yours, and throw it into the bargain, I'll pay you your extra $100,000."

The little byplay immediately relieved the tension, and Hawley, remarking something about Fleischacker's "nerve," said he would accept the offered price—namely, minus the $100,000.

John D. Ryan, who is today the dominating figure in the copper industry of the world, was confronted with an extremely delicate and difficult problem when he first entered the mining industry, at Butte, Mont. The whole State was seething with strife, industrial, labor, political, created mainly by the fierce warfare which had long been waged between the Amalgamated Copper interests, headed by H. H. Rogers, of Standard Oil and Frits Augustus Heinze, then a power in the copper industry.

Ryan conceived that the only way out lay in obtaining complete control of the Heinze properties. So he opened negotiations. The two started their session at 9 o'clock in the evening. At midnight they were still wrangling. At 1 o'clock, they were at it still. Two o'clock found them deadlocked. They had come within $1,000,000 of the figure that Heinze, apparently, very reluctantly, agreed that he would accept. Neither would budge a dollar.

The prospect appeared hopeless. They talked and yawned and talked some more. Heinze declared he had gone further than he had any intention of going. Ryan, too, declared he had gone his limit. He had come there, however, eager to have the whole matter definitely settled.

How, think you, was the deadlock ended?

All other means having failed, the flipping of a coin was finally resorted to!

The National Cash Register Company had called an international convention of its sales agents and salesmen. Eight hundred attended.

After the opening formalities the proceedings took an alarming turn. One agent and salesman after another got up and told a tale of woe, usually finishing by declaring very emphatically that his territory was completely worked out and that he needed new and enlarged ground. Gloom, pessimism, discouragement were settling upon the convention, threatening to be fatal—or incalculably harmful after-effects.

Quick as a flash, the chief executive present, J. H. Barringer, leaped to the platform and shouted, "I'm going to stop this convention to get a shoe shine. Call in the bootblack."

The convention was costing at least $250 per minute. The shoe shine cost $1.250.

The man who had his shoes shined said: "Both of the two bootblacks who preceded this fellow failed to earn even the $4 a day guaranteed by the company; the company every week had to make up the deficit. Then came this bootblack. He had no more 'prospects' than the others, no larger territory, no better conditions of any kind whatsoever. Yet this bootblack earns from $11 to $17 every day."

He paused.

"Gentleman," he shouted. "It is not territory that counts. It's the man!"

JONES TEA OFF TO PREVIOUS 1923 LOW

Davison Chemical was the erratic feature of today's trading on the New York Stock Exchange, selling over 9 points under its day's top, a new 1923 high, after starting up 4.

Davison Company officials professed ignorance as to the cause of the stock's gyrations, as they did a week ago, when the shares fluctuated violently within a 2-point radius.

Jones Brothers Tea, on which dividend action is feared, was off more than a point to its previous 1923 low.

Associated Oil and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, the latter up over 3 points, registered new highs for the year.

Foundation Company lifted around 3 points. American Car & Foundry sold up nearly 2 points. Congoleum yielded 3 points and Endicott Johnson 2¾.

There were point or more setbacks at the day's lows for Cosden, Crucible, Great Northern preferred, Marland, International Paper and Stromberg.

Leathers were weak. Central Leather preferred was off 2¾. Pullman was down 2 at 122¼.

Long-awaited reorganization plan of Texas & Pacific Railway Company, in receivership since 1916, has been made public here. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. will act as readjustment managers. Plan contemplates readjustment without foreclosure of sale, so the company may be able to retain its Federal charter, and $3,000,000 in cash is provided through funding additions and betterments during Federal control. No assessment of stockholders is contemplated.

HARD COAL TAX REPEAL IS BLOCKED

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 27 (United Press).—Demands for a special session of the Pennsylvania Legislature to repeal the anthracite coal tax, fix a standard for size and quality, repeal laws limiting the production of coal and pass laws declaring the anthracite coal industry a public business were set aside by the conference of governors and their representatives with Governor Pinchot.

After three hours of criticism of the anthracite industry and the failure of Pennsylvania to adopt measures to control prices, the conference adjourned until December 18 to study suggestions presented during the day.

TWO GOVERNORS ATTEND.

Two Governors, George Silzer of New Jersey and J. A. O. Preus of Minnesota, with representatives of nine other States, took part in a severe arraignment of Pennsylvania's attitude in the anthracite problem.

A suggestion by Governor Pinchot for a "compact of States" as a method to get united action to prevent extortion in the sale of anthracite, was opposed by several representatives, and resolutions presented by Governor Silzer, endorsing repeal of the tax and other laws which he declared obnoxious, failed of endorsement when the representatives of Governors not present refused to vote until the suggestions made at the conference could be laid before their executives.

CO-OPERATION ASKED.

Governor Pinchot asked the co-operation of the other States. He said he did not see why Pennsylvania, which consumes one-tenth of the anthracite mined within its borders, should attempt to regulate the industry for the other nine-tenths of consumers of other States.

Governor Preus insisted that the anthracite industry should be declared a public business and regulated by Pennsylvania laws. He cited cases of control of elevators in Minnesota, North Dakota and other Western States.

TEETH BETTER WITH FILTER ON JOB

Decided improvement in the health condition of the teeth of Cambridge school children during the past year is declared by Cambridge school dental doctors to be due to the new water filtration system installed in Cambridge a year ago at the instigation of Mayor Quinn.

Dr. Mathew Shea stated that the more sanitary condition of water in Cambridge not only improved the conditions of the children's teeth, but greatly aided in their general health and physical development.

MAN WHO HELPED BUILD STADIUM DIES

Clinton, Nov. 27.—Oren B. Bates, 71 years old, for 57 years a resident of this town, died suddenly of heart disease at his home on Highland street.

Mr. Bates was master mechanic of the Lancaster Mills 27 years, superintendent of the Water Department three years and chief of police seven years. He served as chief of police of Southbridge and then became superintendent of construction for the Norton Construction Company in the construction of the Harvard stadium.

CURLEY URGES PROBE OF CITY HOSPITAL

Mayor Curley has asked the Finance Commission to investigate conditions at the Boston City Hospital.

Not because the Mayor thinks there is anything wrong in the present administration, but as a result of the excellent work he says the Finance Commission did when it reported existing conditions and recommended changes in the Soldiers' Relief Department and also that of the Overseers of the Public Welfare, he believes the same could be done at the City Hospital.

WOMEN VOTERS QUIZZ COUNCIL CANDIDATES

Seven candidates seeking election to the Boston City Council and the school board were put through a stiff questioning by members of the Boston League of Women Voters when they appeared before the league at the Y. W. C. A. Club, No. 37½ Beacon street.

Six of the men are candidates for the council. They are: James Moriarty, Daniel W. Lane, James Purcell, Joseph M. Hegerman, Henry Hagan and Louis Lebowitz. The seventh, George McDermott, is a candidate for the school board.

One question was put to each candidate: "How do you stand on equal pay for women, for equal service for men?" The answers in each instance were in the affirmative.

Asked if he favored in the "pay as you go" policy for the city government, Moriarty made the exception of the City Hospital, and said he intended to vote to ask the Legislature for permission for the city to borrow $800,000 outside the debt limit to erect a new building at the institution to relieve the overcrowded condition.

Lane and Hagan spoke against certain city expenditures which they termed extravagance and waste. The other candidates spoke along the same lines. Each was interrupted by numerous questions put by the women.

BALDWIN RAPS U. S. SCHOOLS

London, Nov. 27.—The assertion that the achievement of American schools is far below that of British was made by Prime Minister Baldwin in an election speech at Bristol. Replying to the statement of a Laborite speaker that the Conservatives were opposed to popular education, the Premier said:

"We have great deal about American education, but from such opportunity as I have had of consulting those who have visited American schools I do not believe the actual achievement of those schools is comparable to that of our schools. That judgment has been indorsed by American educators themselves. I am told a highly competent observer has said that on the whole an American boy of fifteen is in knowledge and achievement about two years behind an English pupil of the same age."

BROTHERS HELD AS SLAYERS IN TUBE ROBBERY

New York, Nov. 27.—Barlow Morris Diamond and his younger brother Joseph today were definitely charged with homicide in connection with the $46,000 holdup and murder on November 14 of two employes of the West End Bank in Brooklyn.

After a grilling by police detectives which lasted far into the night, the brothers were taken to Brooklyn police headquarters and booked on the homicide charges. Barlow was arrested in Jersey City Sunday night and Joseph surrendered here yesterday.

After Barlow Diamond was alleged to have been identified by a witness to the shooting and holdup as one of the bandits, attention shifted from him momentarily when another eyewitness picked Joseph out of a lineup at police headquarters as the man who shot and killed William Barlow, one of the messengers.

REFUSED IMMUNITY.

The elder Diamond was said to have given valuable information about the double slaying if the police would promise him immunity. This was refused. He made a signed statement, however, the contents of which were not divulged.

The Diamonds were to be confronted today by Philadelphia chorus girl to whom they are alleged to have boasted that they were "wanted for a stick-up." It was through this girl and other chorus girls, it is thought, that Barlow was traced in Philadelphia.

District Attorney Dodd said he had learned that both the Diamonds went to Philadelphia the day after the robbery and that on November 20 Barlow returned to New York to attend the Sikh-Diamond wedding, spending the night in a furnished room on Twenty-seventh street. He said Joseph returned to New York last Friday and had been here since.

BROTHERS PLANNED ALIBI.

Mr. Dodd announced that important information had been revealed by Willie Fried, an employe of the Diamond Box Company, owned by the Diamond family. Fried is alleged to have said that the brothers had called him on the telephone four days after the holdup and asked him to come to Philadelphia and discuss business they were afraid to discuss over the telephone.

Fried confessed, Mr. Dodd said, that the brothers had told him to return to New York as soon as possible in order to establish an alibi, and to notify anyone who asked for them that they had spent November 14 in the office of their box factory.

Mr. Dodd expected to start presentation of the case to the Brooklyn Grand Jury today.

HENSHAW MOTOR CO. HAS NOVEL DISPLAY

A novel and unusually interesting display of motor cars is being attracting hundreds of car owners and others to the showrooms of the Henshaw Motor Company, No. 949 Commonwealth avenue, where Dodge models are on exhibition.

A feature is the new type B sedan, which has apparently just been driven into the yard of a country house and there received with joy by somebody's wife and children, who are seated in it. The Brougham coupe and the balloon-tired sport model are shown for the first time. The familiar standard models of Dodge cars are all on hand for inspection of visitors.

When We Begin Using Land Under the Oceans

Big Work Ahead for Man, Kind Friends

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

There is a great deal of water on this earth of ours, and a great deal of land underneath it.

All the treasures of these hidden plains are simply put away for our future use by bountiful nature, as prudent parents put money in the savings bank for their young ones.

Already in Chili they are mining coal under the bed of the Pacific Ocean, and the traveler may ride on electric cars through solid tunnels of coal beneath the waters of the great-est ocean.

In the bay of San Francisco artesian wells, going through the preliminary depths of salt water, bring the water of fresh submarine springs to the surface.

But these little enterprises are but faint beginnings of the great work that man has to do in exploiting the wealth beneath the waters covering two-thirds of the earth's sur-face.

This earth will be quite a romantic abode when sub-oceanic exploitation reaches full development, when the great gold mines beneath the waters are indicated simply by latitude and longitude.

Mars, with his huge canals distributing a planet's waters scientifically, will be matched perhaps by our network of tunnels under the water from here to Asia, and by our bor-ing, with the aid of cooling mediums, toward the earth's cen-tre and bringing up metals in a molten state.

Before he finishes with her, man will make old earth know that he is at work "in her midst." He will make the harnessing of a tiny Niagara or the boring of a poor little isthmus seem feeble efforts.

Business Men Sign Your Name Plainly

Remember the Horace Greeley Story

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

Once upon a time Horace Greeley wrote a letter and sent it to another editor, John P. Raymond. There was nothing to show who wrote the letter, so John P. Raymond simply sent it back by the boy, who had been told to bring an answer.

The boy handed back to Mr. Greeley his own letter. Greeley picked it up, looked at it, handed it back to the boy and said, "Tell the fool who wrote that, he ought to learn to write plainly." It was Greeley's letter; he couldn't read his own letter. At least that's the story.

There are any number of business men that write their names in the same way. At the top of their letter paper they have the name of their company, with "Office of the Presi-dent."

They write to total strangers and sign a name that no-body but an expert, some old trained printer perhaps, could read.

The individual who signs his name most illegibly is the most deeply insulted when the wrong name is written on a letter sent in reply.

That is only another kind of foolishness.

Make things easy for the other man. Write plainly. Or if you can't take the trouble to do that, do what tens of thou-sands of intelligent business men do, which is much better than plain HAND writing. Let the patient secretary that does the typewriting for you write out your name plainly, type-written, underneath the other signature.

The great thing is economy of effort. The least that busi-ness men can do is to begin with their own handwriting, show-ing consideration for others.

There is nothing more annoying in the life of many men than the average illegible signature, unless it be the number of pins in a shirt that comes back from the laundry.

Case for Board of Health

Inspectors Find Milk From Quarantined Vermont Farm—Scarlet Fever

From a cantankerous, irascible, pestiferous, but always courageous and patriotic citizen, we have received a letter, of which the following is the important part:

Dairy inspectors from the Boston Board of Health found milk coming from a farm quarantined because of a case of scarlet fever, in one of the farmer's household, was being delivered at the local creamery at Highgate, Vermont. This discovery was made upon their first visit to Highgate. They promptly compelled the superin-tendent of the creamery to refrain from accepting any more milk from the farm named.

They visited Highgate one week later and found the farmer before named was peddling meat as usual (he is also a butcher) to his fellow townsmen. The cases in one week—the period elapsing between their first and second visits—had increased from 15 to 30 cases. The schools had been closed. The milk that had been coming from the infected farm had prior to its condemnation been shipped to Lynn.

It is scarcely believable that the people in the part of Vermont referred to by our correspondent could submit so long to a condition such as he describes. But with all our correspondent's cantankerousness, he is accurate and truth-ful, and we know that it must be so because he asserts posi-tively that it is so.

It is also unbelievable that any of the big milk dealers in Boston would intentionally take milk from a source so pol-luted. It would be neither Christian, nor decent, nor good sense. If it is to be said that our milk dealers are not sup-posed to be Christian or decent, then we can at least expect them to have good sense.

However, the matter ought to be investigated by the Board of Health, and we call it to their attention.

Will Your Widow Dress as Well as Your Wife?

SOME reasons why you should be insured:

1—To help you create an estate so that you won't die before you are ready to have your neighbors know how much you've laid aside.

2—To make it easy for you to put by a sum of money regularly for use in your old age if you prefer to spend it to "leaving it."

3—To build up a fund to do as well by your children in the mat-ter of education as your wife's successful brother did by his children.

Young Girl's Protest

Editor Boston American:

Last night I read in your paper where a ten-year-old girl was ar-rested for selling liquor. I think it is a shame to arrest a child when the parents are to blame. There are many storekeepers and well-to-do men that should be arrested instead of a poor family for selling moonshine.

Perhaps when you learn that I am only fourteen you will think that I have no right to speak as I have, but moonshine is suc-cessfully acting as a barrier to the future life of young America and if I only had the authority and power I'd send all the moon-shine in America three miles beyond our border. L. M. E. B.

One Way to Joy

Editor Boston American:

Now that Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt is known to be an expert in the art of making flap-jacks and in other culinary stunts, are we supposed to in-crease our imagination to the ex-tent that all other social lights will immediately hurry to the kitchen and at least try and learn how to boil water? If some of those of the upper crust could only learn that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, Paris and Reno courts would go broke within a year.

MRS. EVADNE D. MILT.

THE UNFILLED BOOTS OF BISMARCK AND DISRAELI

By Herbert Kaufman

GERMANY'S fate is in the hands of Poincare and Provi-dence. The Von Kornderff Cabinet dies to the tune of food riots and the crack of police pistols.

Dr. Heinrich Albert, of more or less unsavory fame here-abouts, will next attempt to wear Bismarck's boots. Nothing in the gentleman's previous performances indicates that they'll fit.

The desperate situation searches for Titans and discovers but runts.

Statesmanship has run out of Caprivis, Palmerstons, Disraelis and Gambettas, which largely accounts for M. Poincare.

Throughout Europe brakes have succeeded dynamos.

Control of affairs has passed to reactionaries and crises-dodgers.

Competent leaders have turned their backs on interna-tional muddling to replevin such local opportunities as may still be snatched from class. Cato again has his way.

Lloyd George, guilty of Edmund Burke's crime of being "right too soon," is switched into a siding to give Baldwin, an unseasoned, indecisive politician, thoroughfare.

Venizelos, the shrewdest tactician on the continent, can't even engage his brilliant talents upon the rehabilitation of Greece.

Mussolini, disgusted with the backboneless entente, frankly abandons hope of collecting the slightest indemnity and concentrates energies on Italy's internal problems.

Paris has exhausted the finesse and opposition of the allies.

Cato wins.

Carthage is to be destroyed.

France has her way.

The apple of discord remains in her exclusive possession and "there ain't goin' to be no core" after occupation has gratified its selfish claims.

There'll be empty, oratorical gestures against the profit-less incapacitation of a common creditor—a few more futile conferences, perhaps a third tender of arbitration from the United States and Great Britain. The League of Nations will stage further marionette shows; its puppets will pompously strut and jerk about while Paris holds the strings and devises the plots.

Thus concludes the chestnut-pulling adventure once widely advertised the "war that was to end all wars," other-wise mentioned as a "rally to the defence of civilization."

For our own part, we may extract satisfaction from the assurance that, mainly through U. S. intervention, autocracy was shifted from one bank of the Rhine to the other.

To the Top Dog, the Bones

This, and the reflection that every beneficiary of our help and largess is now a carping critic—the majority of them in-tending "welchers," besides.

Lloyd George even finds sentiment hostile to the refund-ing of the British loan, which Admiral Chester asserts will never be liquidated and several London editors consider a premature and unadvantageous transaction.

Englishmen begin to hear that their pounds and pence shall be applied to a revision of our taxes and are reminded how France has employed unpaid billions for the support of the franc and the arming of Czecho-Slovakia and Poland, not to mention her own ever-increasing aerial and artillery de-fences.

To the top-dog the bone. By right of viva la force majeure the Quai d'Orsay arranges with Stinnes and other indus-trialists to render reparations direct, allotting these sums to German credit.

Berlin isn't consulted, his majesty's government is left out in the cold. Curzon howls that the action is prejudicial to British interests. Well, what about it? If the royal flying corps had more bombers his opinion might have more effect. Britannia doesn't rule the air.

Take a Back Seat, Niagara

For fair skies look near home. Broadan Wall, market forecaster, predicts a forward movement in securities. Eight per cent. stock dividends loom on the horizon. Construction is looking up. Abundant funds for expansion. Corn and cotton-growing States are in spending mood and have the bank balances to underwrite development.

The General Electric Company expects to start work on a $100,000,000 power project at Priest River the instant Fed-eral assent is obtained.

Bigger undertaking than the electrification of Niagara. Seven hundred and fifty thousand horsepower for nitrate and chemical plants and industrial use.

A dam ninety feet high and two miles long, trapping sufficient water to justify the establishment of a 50,000 popu-lation factory town and provide irrigation, besides, for 1,300,-000 adjacent acres. Attabey!!!

Refilling the Rainbow Pots

Twenty-five percent. reduction on earned incomes and at least a fourth off surtaxes seem certain. "Isolation" is grad-ually refilling the rainbow pots. Up-and-doing season ap-proaches. We've about passed the wheat bump in the road of prosperity. Reasonable latitude in long-haul rates, to-gether with restraining measures on coal and commodity profiteers, and tomorrow will have no considerable worries.

The Democrats won't oppose Secretary Mellon's fiscal recommendations. Capital will withdraw its surplus from tax-exempt securities, the moment legislative common sense so encourages the promotion of enterprise. China, off the pavement!

We're scoring without Europe at the bat.

Beyond Poe's Imagination

Gland robbers are reputedly responsible for the death of Freeman Tracy in Chicago, killed near the spot where Charles Ream, another university student, was recently overpowered and atrociously assaulted.

If transplantation operations must be abetted by ghouls then let's have anti-rejuvenation laws.

Science deserves the widest possible license, but not the privileges accorded continental medical centres where free hospital patients are compulsory autopsy material and partial vivisection is actually countenanced.

The limits of knowledge are set by humanity.

Hard to Get Enough to Eat

Editor Helping Hand:

I wonder if anyone could help my mother a little, and also my grandmother? My father died two years ago, and our only sup-port since is mother, and she is all tired out from working and worrying, and can work only a couple of days a week. We have a hard time to get enough to eat on such a small income. Grand-ma was sick for a long time. She has an abscess and uses a lot of white rags. I wonder if some person could send us some old white table cloths or pieces of old white cotton? Also some bed-clothes for a single bed? We all need clothes. My granny takes a size 6 shoe. My name is Billy. I am thirteen years old. I have a little sister named Gloria. She is eighteen months old.

BILLY.

Widow Needs Coat

Editor Helping Hand:

I wonder if there is anyone who has a Winter coat, size 40, for an old woman? I am a widow, living alone. I go out washing and ironing two or three days a week, as I am troubled with rheumatism and cannot go out steadily. MRS. M. McG.

Needs a Crib

Editor Helping Hand:

I am having some pretty hard luck lately, and I wonder if any of the readers could help me? I need a crib for my seven-months-old baby. Yesterday he fell from his carriage, where I have to keep him, and broke his arm. I also have two little boys six and four. They need clothes very badly. We have many bills to pay, and my sister, who goes to school. I it is hard to buy clothes for the children. One of my boys goes to school, and I will have to keep him home until he gets some shoes. MRS. M. McK.

Writes for Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a girl eighteen years old, and my mother is a widow, so I have to work to support her and am not very strong, and I don't know how long I can stand it. I get nine dollars a week and so cannot get very much on that. If anyone could send me any-thing in the line of clothes I would be very glad to get them. My size is 16 in a coat and 14 in dress, which I need very badly.

M. W.

Young Mother Needs Work

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a young married woman with two children, one three years and the other five months. My husband has been out of work a long time, and our money is all gone. We are at present living with my sister, who has only enough to keep herself. I wonder if any kind reader could direct me to or give me work in a place where they would be willing for me to take my young baby with me. I can do any kind of house-work, cook or take care of chil-dren. My baby is healthy and little trouble. MRS. H. K.

THE KIDDIES ENJOY THE GOOD THINGS

Do the kiddies enjoy the generous and appetizing Christmas dinners furnished every year by the open-hearted readers of the Boston American? We know they do. They write about it and send in their thanks. Let us make this year's Basket Fund greater than ever so that more of the needy families of Greater Boston may enjoy the good things that go with this holiday of holidays. Strain a point, Helping Hand people, and give a little more than you had planned. You won't regret it.

$5 for Christmas Fund

Editor Helping Hand:

Would you please send me the address of Mrs. O. D., who lives on four dollars a week and has two little girls, as I may be able to help in your wonderful work? If you have any needy ones living in or near Danvers, please send me their address also. Enclosed find five dollars for the Christ-mas Basket Fund.

MRS. R. S. M.

Many thanks. You have been sent Mrs. O. D.'s address, and we will let let you know also of any family in Danvers as you suggest. The five dollars has gone to the Basket Fund. Fine!

Winter Suit for Girl

Editor Helping Hand:

I am enclosing a list of a few articles of clothing which might be useful to someone. They con-sist of a dark blue Winter suit for a girl about seventeen or eighteen years of age, a dark pleated skirt of sam. size, a pair of high shoes, practically new, size 2½, and a sport coat.

MISS D. Y.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. M. K., who has a daughter that age in need of clothes.

Grateful for Anything

Editor Helping Hand:

I wonder if there is someone who could give me a little help? I have four children. Alfred is eight, and I cannot send him to school for the want of shoes and clothes. He takes a size 13 shoe. There are three girls, five, four and six months. I have plenty for the baby, but not for the others, or myself. I wear size 38 in waist or coat and size 5 or 5½ in shoes. Anything will be greatly appreciated.

MRS. M. W. 5.

Aged Couple Get $5

Editor Helping Hand:

Please give the enclosed five dollars to the aged couple in need, whose letter was signed A. A. B.

MRS. E. M. S.

Many thanks. The five dol-lars has been forwarded them and will be a big help to them, I know.
